Marshall Goes Back To Paris With Assurance

"Mission To Moscow" Idea Is Dropped By President After Conference

MARSHALL CONFERS WITH FORRESTAL

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Secretary of State Marshall returns to Paris by air today with complete assurance of bipartisan support at home for three-power action in the "cold war" with Russia.

GOP presidential nominee Thomas E. Dewey declared America will back the UN in the showdown with Russia and President Truman assured Marshall nothing will be done without consulting Britain and France, after dropping his "mission to Moscow" idea.

U. S. Had Narrow Escape

At the same time, Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich., GOP foreign spokesman in the Senate, denounced unilateral action. He declared that the nation had a "narrow escape" in referring to Mr. Truman's abandoned proposal to send Chief Justice Vinson to see Premier Stalin.

Marshall, who was to have returned to the U. N. meeting in Paris yesterday, prolonged his stay in Washington to hold Sunday conferences with Defense Secretary Forrestal and Undersecretary of State Lovett.

Subject of the Sunday talks was not mentioned, but it was assumed that they discussed problems connected with the Berlin blockade now before the U. N. assembly.

It was reported that the trio also may have discussed American armed strength and the problem of supplying arms to the western European union nations.

Western Delegates Hail Statements By Dewey-Vandenberg

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(European General Manager International News Service)

PARIS, Oct. 11.—(INS)—Western delegates to the United Nations hailed the Dewey-Vandenberg statements today affirming western unity in dealing with the Russians. British and French circles commented that the statements went a long way toward repairing the damage done by President Truman's plan to short-circuit the United Nations by sending a "Mission to Moscow."

The victory of Secretary of State Marshall in persuading the president to abandon the proposal was seen as enabling the west to maintain

Anniversary At Enon Concluded

Church Filled To Capacity For Two-Day Event Marking Seventy-Fifth Anniversary

FORMER PASTORS HEARD ON PROGRAM

Memories of bygone days were revived Saturday and Sunday at the Enon Valley Presbyterian church during the 75th anniversary celebration of the little rural church which has seen many hundreds of the citizens of the community go in and out of its doors in their desire to worship God down through the years since 1873.

Opened Saturday Evening

The milestone event in the history of the church and congregation opened Saturday evening with an informal period in the church, when old friends who had returned to the community for the homecoming and anniversary services were privileged to greet one another again after absences of 10 to 20 and more years. A program in charge of the pastor, Rev. Robert Bell, concluded the period of reminiscing on Saturday evening.

Mrs. Francis Hartford and Mrs. Florence Booth, singing "Memories" welcomed the many visitors to the first service of the celebration. A mixed quartet from Ellwood City was heard on the Saturday evening program, with several numbers presented by the group. Greetings from the congregation by Mrs. J. H. Braden were extended, followed by appropriate remarks from the neighboring Westfield congregation, given by Rev. John M. Pife. Rev. R. H. Henry of Darlington also extended greetings to the celebrating church. Elmer Canagy of Ellwood City was heard in solo selections during the evening. Refreshments closed the program.

Report Sen. Taft Intends To Pass Up Floor Leadership

Washington, Oct. 11.—(INS)—Informed sources said today that Sen. Taft (R) Ohio intends to pass up the GOP floor leadership and retain his job as Republican policy chairman.

Acting Majority Leader Wherry (R) Neb., appears to have the leadership clinched. If Taft retains the policy chairmanship, the GOP conference must change its rules at its first meeting. Under the present set-up, Taft's four-year term expires and he would not be eligible to policy committee membership until after a lapse of two years.

Truman's Principal Address Tonight To Be Made At Akron, Ohio

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

EN ROUTE WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN IN OHIO, Oct. 11.—(INS)—President Truman does battle today with two arch foes, Sen. Robert A. Taft (R) Ohio and John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers' chief.

The chief executive opens his drive for Ohio's 25 electoral votes in Cincinnati—Taft's home town.

During his campaign the president has singled out Sen. Taft for individual attack. He is the one political leader against whom Mr. Truman has hurled the most frequent blasts for Republican congressional leadership responsibility.

Mr. Truman apparently is determined to say nothing more about the incident involving his proposal to send Chief Justice Fred Vinson on a mission to Moscow. The plan caused an international furor over the weekend.

A presidential aide said last night:

Double Salary Boost For Lewis

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 11.—(INS)—The $25,000-a-year salary of United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis was doubled today by the 3000 delegates to the UMW convention in Cincinnati.

The action came after a floor fight in which delegates contended the salary boost was "not enough."

The salaries of UMW Vice President Thomas Kennedy and Secretary-Treasurer John Owens were raised from $18,000 to $40,000. Lewis spoke briefly at the morning session and urged miners in both hard and soft coal fields to take off Nov. 2 and vote. He reiterated his stand against the Taft-Hartley labor law and called for defeat of congressmen who voted for it.

Lewis reported that up to last Saturday, pensions had been obtained from the union's welfare fund for 2585 miners.

The delegates decided to hold the next convention the first Tuesday in October of 1952 at a city to be determined later.

Narrow Escape Says Vandenberg

Discusses President Truman's Projected "Mission To Moscow" Move

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—(INS)—President Truman's projected "Mission to Moscow" was termed a "narrow escape" from the pitfall of unilateral action with Russia by Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg.

The chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in a New York address last night, departed from his prepared text to criticize the president's abandoned plan to send Chief Justice Fred Vinson to the Kremlin.

Vandenberg said: "I believe it entirely possible that the Security Council can restore this problem to the basis of specific negotiations. Of course, there are some things we cannot negotiate."

The leading GOP spokesman on bi-partisan foreign policy added:

"We are in Berlin by right. We shall not be driven out. We shall not negotiate under duress, but if there is any reciprocity answering our will for peace, there is every reason why the Security Council should be able to lift the blockade."

"Now that we have gone to the United Nations we must intelligently avoid any unilateral inde-

City Greets Dewey During Afternoon

Only the worst kind of weather would be able to hold the crowd down for the Dewey meeting here this afternoon. The seventeen car special train of Governor Thomas E. Dewey Republican candidate for president, and his party was scheduled to arrive over the Pennsylvania Railroad at 2:45 o'clock.

A number of schools were dismissing for the meeting, among them the senior high school and the two junior high schools of the city. It was thought probable some of the schools in the outlying townships were also dismissing.

Governor Dewey started his tour at midnight from Albany, N. Y. at Buffalo, N. Y. he was met by U. S. Senator and Mrs. Edward Martin, Governor and Mrs. James H. Duff, Lawrence County chairman Roger W. Rowland met the train at Erie at noon and will accompany it to New Castle.

The train will be in the West Side station for thirty five minutes and Governor Dewey is expected to speak for about fifteen minutes.

Sees Injury In Moscow Mission Idea Of Truman

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

EN ROUTE WITH DEWEY, Oct. 11.—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey campaigned into Pennsylvania and the midwest today, convinced that President Truman's "mission to Moscow" idea has critically injured America's role in foreign affairs.

Dewey launched the second tour of his GOP presidential campaign after asserting that the United States will back the United Nations and its western allies in the current showdown with Russia over Berlin.

Dewey's statement was aimed bluntly as an answer to Mr. Truman's reported plan to send Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson to Moscow to deal directly with Marshal Stalin.

Statement issued
The governor did not mention the Vinson matter by name but issued his statement with that in mind.

His statement was issued at a hastily-summoned news conference in the executive mansion in Albany. It said:

"The people of America wholeheartedly and vigorously support the labor of our bipartisan delegation at Paris and specifically its insistence on a prompt lifting of the blockade of Berlin."

"The nations of the world can rest assured that the American people are united in their foreign policy and will firmly and unshakably uphold the United Nations and our friends of the free world in every step to build and preserve the peace."

Asked if John Foster Dulles, his personal foreign policy adviser, would remain as a member of the bi-partisan United Nations delegation in Paris, Dewey replied: "certainly."

Dewey To Make Labor Address At Pittsburgh

Major Speech By Republican Candidate Scheduled For Pittsburgh Tonight

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 11.—(INS)—The Republican campaign in western Pennsylvania hits a new high today, with the GOP presidential nominee, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, swinging into the area for four platform talks and a major labor address.

Pittsburgh Republicans planned a caravan through the downtown district to greet their standard bearer following his arrival at 4:30 p. m. (EST). And Erie, Sharon, New Castle and Rochester were ready to see and hear their leader when his special train makes 10-minute stops at each place.

Labor Speech Tonight

The high point of the visit, of course, will be Dewey's labor speech at Hunt Armory in Pittsburgh at 8:30 p. m. More than 10,000 are expected to attend, and many will hear the nation-wide broadcast (CBS).

Gov. James H. Duff of Pennsylvania, Sen. Edward Martin and other state party leaders boarded the Dewey special at Buffalo, N. Y., this morning.

Allegheny County party leaders will join the tour at Rochester to be with the presidential candidate on the swing through the Pittsburgh Triangle.

The weather forecast for the day and night were none too favorable. Cloudy and cool and rainy weather was expected. It rained the night of Dewey's visit four years ago, too.

After the speech, Dewey and his wife will hold a brief reception for state Republicans.

Then they will board the train to continue the campaign trip.

Charge 28 Japs With Beheading Captured Fliers

TOKYO, Oct. 11.—(INS)—Twenty-eight former Japanese army officers were formally charged today with torturing and beheading captured American fliers during the closing days of World War II.

The incidents enumerated were described in the indictments as a series of revenge slayings, carried out after the atomic bombings of Hiroshima and Nagasaki and the American raids on Fukuoka.

The accused men include four former Japanese generals and—four erstwhile non-commissioned officers.

The charges stated that B-29 Superfortress airmen, who were prisoners in Japan, were singled out as the victims of the revenge tortures and murders.

"No Talk Of Negotiation While Russian Peace Threat Continues"

WESTERN POWERS UNITED IN STAND

By PIERRE J. HUX
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, Oct. 11.—The west rejected small power attempts at a Berlin compromise today and demanded clear-cut United Nations action to end the Soviet blockade.

In a tri-power note, the U. S., Britain and France told China and the five "neutral" members of the Security Council that there can be no talk of negotiation while the Russian threat to the peace continues.

The note termed unacceptable the proposal made by the small powers that the west agree to a Big Four conference on the over-all German problem simultaneously with the lifting of the Soviet blockade.

United Nations circles speculated that the adamant western position may have been taken in order to show a bold united front in the wake of the damage done by President Truman's thwarted plan to send a "mission to Moscow."

Want Soviet Concessions

The small powers considered the western note in a brief meeting, but after reaching no agreement adjourned till tonight. It was not learned whether Russia had also replied to the compromise suggestion.

It was understood that the west wanted the council to go on record with a condemnation of the Soviet's Berlin tactics. The western note gave the small powers little choice but to draft a resolution backing Russia, precipitating either a Soviet veto or an end to the blockade.

The note was handed to Security Council President Juan D. Bramuglia, of Argentina, as the Ukrainian Foreign Minister Dmitri Manulsky repeated Soviet charges that the west is headed toward war.

War Not Near Declares Lie

PARIS, Oct. 11.—(INS)—Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the United Nations, expressed conviction today that there will be no war in the "foreseeable future."

Lie issued a formal statement in response to a number of requests for his opinion as to whether the present tense world situation might lead to war.

He said: "It is always possible in theory for the great powers to stumble into a conflict which would lead to a third world war."

"However, I am convinced that such a war will not happen within the foreseeable future."

"It would never happen if the peoples of the world exhibit a modicum of good sense and exercise the most elementary instincts of self-preservation."

"The possibility of an accident cannot be excluded but the United Nations is designed to prevent such accidents."

Canada Again Accuses Soviet As Tension Cause

PARIS, Oct. 11.—(UPI)—Canada again accused Soviet Russia today of responsibility for international tension.

Lionel Chevrier, Canadian delegate to the U. N. political committee, said that the Russians are "creating confusion and disension within the borders of every liberty-loving and democratic state."

In the atomic sub-committee, Soviet Delegate Jacob Malik resumed his attacks on American atom policy, Malik said:

"The Soviet Union has made a proposal. It is now for the other side to make constructive suggestions as to how to facilitate agreement instead of attempting to impose an unacceptable control plan."

The western allies have rejected the Russian suggestion, calling for simultaneous destruction of atomic bombs and international control.

The majority report of the atomic energy commission calls for inspection without prior notice as a major part of any control plan.

Speaking before the general assembly, Alexandre Parodi of France criticized Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky's proposal for a 33 1/3 per cent arms reduction over a one-year period as "spectacular and oversimplified."

He said that it arouses distrust and suspicion and is "aimed at the headlines" rather than being a serious disarmament proposal.

Two Auto Drivers Held By Police

Edward J. Golonka, Spring Street, and Charles Kirsch, also Spring Street, township, were charged yesterday by Police Chief Robert D. Homan before Alderman James C. Bries with driving a motor car while intoxicated. Both pleaded guilty and pending court action were released on bail for the afternoon.

It was alleged that Golonka drove the car on Route 432, near the Valley Motor Freight company, and the car struck the car of Carl Kautz, R. D. 8, Kautz followed the car to the city diamond, where Golonka was asked to make a report to the police.

It was further alleged that Kirsch took the wheel of the auto and drove it to police headquarters to make a report, hence both were arrested.

event, with the Sunday school period given over to the important day in the history of the church. W. W. McMillin, of this city, a former member of the church, extended greetings during the Sunday school hour. Superintendent Harry Riebold was in charge of the Bible school.

The morning worship period conducted by the pastor, Rev. Robert Bell, saw the church auditorium more than filled to capacity. The male quartet, composed of Gray Foster, Charles Riddle, Eugene and Earl Watt, was heard in several selections. A double quartet presented special numbers also, as did the choir.

Rev. Joseph Engle, a former pastor, was the speaker of the hour. He chose to speak on a "Glorious Church," in which he urged the church to continue the good work that has been going on down through the years. His address was prefaced by a Scripture reading, prayer and brief remarks by Rev. Harrison Davidson, also a former pastor.

Dr. Kirkbride Speaks

The most interesting portion of the afternoon and closing meeting of the two-day celebration were the well chosen words of Dr. S. A. Kirkbride of New Wilmington, retired Presbyterian minister, who briefly told of his association with all but one of the church's past ministers. His brief remarks were deeply appreciated by the guests.

Mrs. Sue Rager fittingly gave a resume of the church history. Mrs. George Andrews was honored with a bouquet of roses for her untiring efforts in the church and Sunday school down through the years.

A daughter of one of the early pastors spoke during the closing meeting. Greetings were extended by Rev. Charles Bell of Ellwood City, Rev. W. W. Willis of New Galilee, Mr. Canady was again heard during the afternoon in two selections.

School Teacher Taken By Death

Miss M. Edythe Dunlap Dies In Hospital At Bellefonte
On Saturday

Miss M. Edythe Dunlap, one of the best known teachers in the New Castle public school system, died Saturday, October 9, in the Bellefonte hospital. She was stricken just as the term ended last June and was taken to her home in Pine Grove Mills, Pa. Several days ago she was removed to the hospital.

Miss Dunlap was born in Pine Grove Mills, Pa., and graduated from Pennsylvania State college. In 1921 she entered the New Castle public school system and since the opening of the Benjamin Franklin junior high school had taught English there.

She was an active member of the New Castle chapter, Pennsylvania State Education Association. She is survived by two sisters and three brothers.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday, October 12, from the family home in Pine Grove Mills.

political committee in support of the Soviet disarmament resolution, said that the same policies which wrecked pre-war disarmament proposal are at work now. He added:

Led To World War
"Those policies destroyed the basis of security and led ultimately to world war."

The western note was drafted by Dr. Philip Jessup for the U. S., Sir Alexander Cadogan for Britain, and Alexandre Parodi for France.

It made clear that the issue before the Security Council is not the German problem, but the question of Russia's menace to peace by using force in imposing the Berlin blockade.

This threat must be removed, the west insisted, before any further negotiations can be discussed.

One point which apparently irritated the west is the compromise suggested by the small powers, they proposed that the case be dropped from the Security Council's agenda.

Await Soviet Reply
PARIS, Oct. 11.—(INS)—The United Nations awaited Russia's reply to a last-ditch compromise proposal on Berlin today in an atmosphere of gloomy forboding.

The proposal calls for the simultaneous lifting of the Berlin blockade and convoking of a new Big Four foreign ministers meeting on the over-all German problem.

It was put up to both the Big Three western powers and the Soviet by Argentine Foreign Minister Juan D. Bramuglia, representing China and the five small-power members of the Security Council.

REALLY FINE FACTORY JOB

Men, who send their felt hats to Smith's now, have a real surprise in store for them. The installation of latest type cleaning and reblocking system for men's felt hats, enables us to give a really fine factory job.

We've always done good work on felt hats but with our new machine the improvement is so great that you will readily notice it. In addition to cleaning, reblocking and resizing, all felt hats are treated with a special process that "seals" the nap. This means longer wear between cleanings.

at the exchange of vows in the presence of a large number of guests.The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin with a sweetheart neckline, long sleeves, the bodice girdled
at the waist in front by a narrow belt embroidered in seed pearls,
and a full skirt ending in a long train. Her net veil, fingertip length, was edged with lace and fell from a crown of orange blossoms and seed pearls. She carried a mother of pearl prayer book, gift of the groom, marked with a cluster of white roses and streamers knotted with white baby mums.Mrs. Chester Nastal, matron of honor, wore a gown of light blue
tulle with matching headbands
and mitts and carried a bouquet of yellow roses and mums. Bridesmaids, the Misses Cleda Magee and Helen Nastal, gown in pink
tulle with matching headbands
and mitts, carried pink roses.Chester Nastal served the groom
as best man, and ushers were Jack

FIFTIETH SEASONEntering on the fiftieth year since its organization, a 1 o'clock
luncheon in a Highland avenue tea-room on Friday afternoon ushered in the 1948-49 season for Sorosis club members. In recognition of the golden anniversary, table decorations were yellow chrysanthemums and dahlias.Answer to roll call was "Vacation Memories". In response it was revealed that some members had found travel pleasure in New Castle and vicinity and others had taken trips during the summer to points on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts or to intermediate points.
Each gave a brief account of her travels. An informal social time ensued.Year books, distributed at this time, contain a history of the club and pay tribute to the ladies who organized the club in 1898.
Arrangements for the luncheon and program were in charge of the program committee, Mrs. F. G.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

A Scandinavian and an Argentine—two men from different ends of the earth whose careers always have followed the path of meditation—worked diligently behind the scenes in an effort to find a compromise to the Berlin crisis.

They are Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the United Nations, and Juan Atilio Bramuglia, temporary chairman of the Security Council. Lie is from Norway; Bramuglia from Argentina.

Their languages are far apart, their national traditions and heritage equally distant.

Working Together

Yet dispatches from Paris indicate that they are working together almost as a team, bringing pressure to bear upon delegates of east and west in an attempt to achieve the seemingly impossible.

This is to bring about suspension of the Russian blockade in Berlin and convene a meeting of the Big Four Council of Foreign Ministers on terms that will embarrass neither side or reduce to a fatal and final cleavage the fundamentally divergent viewpoints that already have split Europe and the world into east-west camps.

The Paris dispatches also say that the suave, experienced delegates from China, with their thousands of years of war and peace part of their heritage, are working feverishly to break the deadlock.

But because of their commanding positions, Lie and Bramuglia attract world attention.

Parallels In Lives

Strangely enough, these two men have had some parallels in their lives. Both were eminently successful labor lawyers before they carried them into the field of international relationships.

And both of them grappled with a momentous crisis in their own countries and came out on top.

Lie was one of many of the patriotic Norwegians important in public affairs who had to submit to the indignities of Nazi occupation throughout the war but who maintained unblemished his personal honor.

He was the direct opposite of the cringing Vidkun Quisling who rose to short-lived power on Adolf Hitler's coat-tails and preserved unblemished his high reputation in the hard days when his nation was under the conqueror's heel.

Less Dramatic Than

Bramuglia was a less dramatic task but an equally difficult one. It fell to him to bring about a truce among the various political parties of Argentina which enabled Col. Juan Peron to establish himself as president and single-handed ruler of the nation.

In other respects, however, the men are little alike. Lie is 52, heavy-set, jovial, with the wide-open countenance typical of the Scandinavians.

Bramuglia is 45, of medium height, slim, sad-eyed and soft-spoken.

Lie and Bramuglia took over the task of individual mediation when it became obvious that none of the

Looking At Life

By Erich Brandeis

Being an inveterate crossword puzzle fan, I was busy with my Sunday brain teaser, which this week was the "Double Crostic," about as tough a proposition as Elizabeth Kingsley or any other torturer of men has ever devised.

I came across this item, to be filled in in its proper places: "A collector of customs at Capernaum, later a follower of Jesus."

Naturally I should have known instantly who it was. I had learned it, just as you learned it. But frankly, I had forgotten.

I looked up Capernaum in my encyclopedia, but did not find the answer.

All it said was that Capernaum, a city of ancient Palestine, on the west or northwest side of the Sea of Tiberias, is famous in Christian history, because in its vicinity Jesus delivered the Sermon on the Mount.

So I looked for Capernaum in my Concordance to the Bible—and there I found it: Capernaum, Matthew 4, 13.

Of course! Matthew—the collector of customs at Capernaum who later became a follower of Jesus.

It was Sunday and once again I had not gone to church.

So I laid the crossword puzzle aside, took out my Bible and turned to Matthew.

There it was, Chapter 4, Verse 13: "And leaving Nazareth, he came and dwelt in Capernaum, which is upon the sea coast, in the borders of Zabulon and Nephthali."

And I read on and came to the 25th verse "And there followed him great multitudes of people from Galilee, and from Decapolis, and from Jerusalem, and from Judea, and from beyond Jordan."

How strange it seemed to me to see all these names that now appear daily in our newspapers set down in that old and yet so eternally new book—our Bible.

I came to Chapter 5, which begins, "And seeing the multitudes he went up into a mountain; and when he was set his disciples came to him; and he opened his mouth, and taught them saying,"

Then follows that most wonderful of all sermons ever delivered, the Sermon on the Mount.

Forget a moment about religion, about your own particular faith. It does not matter whether you are Christian, Jew, Mohammedan or nonbeliever.

But read that Sermon on the Mount. Read it for its beauty, for its eternal wisdom, for its justice.

Nineteen hundred centuries ago Jesus delivered that Sermon.

If men had lived up to it, if men were living up to it today there could be no wars, there could never be brother against brother.

"And every one that heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them not, shall be likened unto a foolish man, which built his house upon the sand."

Please read it—Matthew, 5 to 7. If you have read it before read it again. It also deals with him "which built his house upon a rock."

The World and the Mud Puddles

WHAT NATION NOW REDEEM? The situation now in Berlin is a fine example of currency, unrestrained and unsecured by anything more than a promise to pay.

The American, British and French occupational zones issued new currency to take the place of the currency in Berlin. Not to be outdone, the Soviets put out their own currency and forbade the use of the Western Zone currency anywhere in Berlin. And they go further and demand that the Western Zone governments make the Soviet issue the only legal payment. Soviet representatives say that the general use of the Western Zone currency in Berlin will result in shutting off food and other supplies.

Reason Unknown

The decision of the three Western Powers to change the mark notes in all probability was prompted by the degeneracy of the old mark due to flooding of their occupational areas by these marks printed by the Soviets. For some reason beyond guessing, our administrators in Germany, when we had adopted a standard mark for circulation in the Western Zone, lent the Russians the plates for printing this currency and even supplied them with the special types of paper used. It was a simple matter for the Soviets to keep the printing presses rolling, with the result that practically all Germany was inundated with the military occupation marks. Incidentally, it has been stated on the floor of Congress that a redemption of this Russian-issued currency will cost the United States Treasury close to half a billion dollars.

Primary Need

A primary need in the restoration of Germany to self-sufficiency is a sound and uniform currency, even if its value is cut to a certain extent. If the United States east of the Mississippi were using one king of money and that part west of the river another kind, there would not only be endless confusion, but eventually a battle between the currencies in which the "good money" would drive out the "bad money."

This sort of division between Eastern and Western Germany fairly well symbolizes the effects of conflicting systems and the crippling consequences that flow from lack of uniform transportation and communication. One certain inference from the Soviet attitude on the currency is that they are determined to retain the eastern half of Germany as a permanent Soviet State or satellite. This, of course, makes it even more obligatory upon the Western Powers to proceed with the unification of their own territory and the establishment of a workable German government.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY—ON YOU

One cannot help but be intrigued with the most recent idea of the United Mine Workers, that of declaring the birthday of John L. Lewis a legal holiday.

Mr. Lewis' birthday comes on February 12 which happens to be Lincoln's birthday. Whether the idea is to share honors with Honest Abe or eventually relegate his birthday to comparative oblivion is not clear but the general idea has limitless possibilities.

If Mr. Lewis' birthday was declared a legal holiday the miners would not work on that day but would undoubtedly insist upon being paid. This of course would be added to the cost of production and would have to be paid by the consumer. In other words, most of the nation would be expected to wish John L. Lewis a happy birthday, with the consumer picking up the check.

Agreeing to the theory that Mr. Lewis has done much to alleviate the coal miners' condition, it still seems rather ridiculous to suggest that he be made one of the minor prophets (no pun intended) of America.

Undoubtedly the steel worker, the railroad worker, the ceramic worker, and a host of others have a high regard for their national president. If Lewis' birthday is to be declared a legal holiday, why not Phil Murray, Alvanley Johnston, Dan Tobin, and a host of other outstanding labor men?

Of course if the miners insist upon such a procedure the idea should be carried further. Why not similar recognition for the hero who first ate an oyster? Bankers would probably suggest a legal holiday for the man who invented six per cent.

Newspapers could insist that the birthday of Johann Gutenberg, the father of modern printing be a holiday. On the musical side the bandmen of the country could ask for a legal holiday for the birthday of James C. Petillo, or perhaps Adolph Sax the inventor of the saxophone.

The idea is limitless. To 104 Saturdays and Sundays add say six legal holidays brings it to 110. Add the national presidents of all unions, plus other men who could be honored, add the Twelve Apostles, the discoverer of oil, the discoverer of coal, Thomas A. Edison, the lad who first discovered tomatoes were not poisonous, James Watt, Elihu Howe, Alexander Graham Bell, Marconi, and if there are any days left, we suggest the four Marx Brothers.

Bigger and better holidays seem to be the idea, with the consumer paying for them. Get enough holidays and of course the consumer wouldn't have money enough to pay for the days people got paid for not working, and presently we are back to where we realize that work isn't such a bad idea after all.

IF COLUMBUS CAME BACK

October 12 is the anniversary of the day on which Columbus discovered America in 1492, but it is doubtful if the Great Mariner, if he came back, would be in favor of giving the country back to the Indians, as has been facetiously suggested. The United States would exceed his wildest dreams.

Problems that seem huge to Americans would be brushed off by Columbus as of no consequence. He would marvel at the progress that has been made, at the comforts and ease that have been provided, at the amount and quality of the food. What would he think of people flying across the ocean that required months for him to cross in less than 24 hours?

Strikes, no doubt, would seem asinine to him. The threat of war would seem of little consequence because in his day, and ever since, war has been the natural thing in Europe. Christopher no doubt would regard it of little importance who won the presidential race or the World Series. He would, in short, think this was a wonderful land regardless of what happened.

Whether he was the first to discover America or others crossed the ocean ahead of him, Columbus started what is currently going on here. If someone else really discovered America, he did nothing about it. So it is fitting that all Americans honor the discoverer of their country today.

Spelling reform is being opposed by one literary group, on the ground that it is too nu-fangled.

One reason Presidential candidates don't make their campaign trips by plane is that there is no chance for back platform speeches.

The way those Hindus took over Hyderabad after only two days of fighting must have caused Hitler to turn over in his grave.

(Special To Control Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—How- ever it may turn out, the State Department is listening to advisers who believe that Russia does not want war and won't start one.

The advisers feel that Russia actually is taking a beating on the international front and that all the noise is designed to drown out the truth.

There are signs that Russia may not be doing too well behind her Iron Curtain. The people are worse off than even under the czars. When they get a glimpse of the world beyond, their discontent deepens.

Even in low-living-standard Romania, 50,000 Russian soldiers reportedly have slipped off into the hinterlands to live in hiding with Romanian peasant girls. Soviet desertions in Germany are known to many—but their numbers are a closely-guarded secret.

The experts figure it this way: that Russia, flushed with victory, was sure she could, with the aid of fifth columnists, take over all of Europe. So she didn't hesitate to antagonize the west.

In so doing, the Communist nation which needed billions of dollars for a modernization job, shut itself off from outside financial aid.

Russia has no highway network—talk of a car for every Russian family is nonsense, for there would be no place to park. Likewise, the railroad system is 50 years behind western standards.

So the experts are sure Russia doesn't want war.

There is an unhappy thought, though—many experts were contending as late as November, 1941, that Japan would not risk a war.

across the top of the world—the situation is changed.

The Alaska railroad, built from the discards of the Panama canal operations, faces the happy prospect of getting new buildings, new rails and new rolling stock.

Earmarked for service in the far north are 701 troop sleepers, some of which can be converted easily into box cars; 1,000 other cars; 19 Diesel locomotives, and 18 coal-burning steam engines.

Congress had been reluctant to spend money in the far north until we began quarreling with Russia—separated from Alaska by only 55 miles across the Bering Strait.

Malady Of Middle Age?

(By Holmes Alexander)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 11.—Disloyalty, an ugly ailment, is one of the diseases of middle-aged nations—and perhaps we are beginning to feel the painful twinges.

It is well over 200 years since the early colonists arrived on these shores, and it is pushing 200 years since the Revolution.

That's a lot of water under the bridge.

Nothing comes more suddenly or unwillingly upon men and nations than the realization of middle age. I don't know which hurts more—the mental realization or the physical discomfort. It is surely a fact that good Americans feel indignation and shame at the mounting evidence that there are traitors among us. This just can't be, we feel. The republic is just too vigorous, too healthy, too wonderfully high-minded in the pride of its youth to . . .

Middle-Aged Nations

But wait! There's the rub. We are holding our 40th presidential election, choosing our 81st Congress, recovering from our seventh victorious war—and it all adds up to being a middle-aged nation.

It's a time of life when a lot of the wholesomeness and beauty of living is more a memory than a fact. The high idealism, the ardent passions and the bright expectations have somehow gone. We have seen such things happen to others, and now come the ranking knowledge that we are not so altogether different from those we have seen pass into a period of not being young any more.

For treason is, in fact, a common-place ailment of nations that have ceased to grow and have started to turn back, paunchy and cantankerous. England of the Stuarts and Tudors kept the hangmen and the gaolers busy with the punishment of disloyalty. France was the same in her middle years under the Bourbons and the Bonapartes. So was Russia under the Czars. Treason exists wherever rival dynasties compete for a throne, wherever a government oppresses the people and sometimes it exists simply because patriotism, a species of romantic love, begins to lose its early rapture.

Disloyalty Harmful

Disloyalty is not only shameful, it is harmful. It can't be anything but injurious to national life when energy and vigilance have to be expended in seeking the enemy within. It can't help the cause of personal liberty when both the legislative and executive branches of government are distracted from normal duties by spy hunts and loyalty checks, by surveillance, indictment and punishment of traitors, near-traitors and seeming traitors. Nor is the pursuit of prosperity aided either. Science is a sufferer, social intercourse is hampered, literature and art become suspect, and statement craft is fenced about with doubts and hesitations.

But middle age does bring some compensation to its ills. A man or a nation may become less perfect with the years, but both should also become more tolerant, worldly-wise and less liable to make emotional mistakes.

We can well hope that these compensations will be useful to us in the period of change. The incoming Dewey administration will undoubtedly make a great-to-do about uprooting disloyalty. Old laws will be invoked, maybe some new laws enacted—and there are some vengeful men in the GOP who would like to set up something approaching the Nuremberg courts.

There Is Distinction

But we should make a distinction between vigilance and revenge. Loyalty, after all, has to be earned. It cannot be commanded. The human equation is a higher law than any man-made statute. Immediately a country goes in for secret police, thought control, political repression—the fat is in the fire. People, especially American people, will not stand for burdensome authority. Many loyal men, and many more unstable men, will think it the part of patriotism to resist anything that even looks like governmental tyranny. The Dewey administration will win popular support if it catches a traitor red-handed and treats the country to an old-fashioned outdoor hanging. But there will have to be an improvement upon the current tendency to parade suspects and innocent bystanders through the police line-up.

What's needed most of all is to get the disloyalty business out of politics. In our excitement we are apt to transfer our wrath from an uncaught villain to the nearest object of dislike. It makes very little sense to visit our anger at Stalin upon some smirking clerk and upon those who happened to have known him when . . .

And unfortunately in times of treason the smearer, the squealer, the publicity hound, the demagogue and the apostle of hatred come in for notice far past their worth. It is the likes of these who lead a middle-aged country from bad to worse. They are the quack doctors under whose hands no patient ever recovers.

JOBS UPON A TIME

AS A CHILD, Eleanor Powell danced in Atlantic City clubs for several summers, and at 16 took off for New York. At 22, Eleanor was declared the world's greatest feminine tap dancer by the Dancing Masters of America. In 1935 Eleanor made her motion picture appearance in George White's 1935 Scandals, then in Broadway Melody of 1936. Going into semi-retirement for a time after her marriage to Actor Glenn Ford and the birth of a son, Eleanor has now returned to the screen.

CANADA LEE became an actor quite by accident. First he was a jockey, then a prize fighter. At 14 Canada (whose real name is Joseph Canegata) ran away from school, rode horses at Saratoga, N. Y., race track, fought in the ring for eight years, made a fortune but ruined his eyesight. He opened a nightclub, went broke. While hunting a job Lee wandered into a theater to rest and was offered a part. Fame came with Native Son on the stage. On the screen he has made Body and Soul and other films.

Practice him on some of the elemental sounds in words like rat, mat, cat; bone, stone, cone; blow, crow, slow; chain, chair, child. Point out to him that some words are not spelled quite as they sound, whose correct spelling just have to be learned by heart.

When he attacks a word of more than one syllable, show him how to break it up into syllables. Always the word he is learning to spell should be printed or written legibly. It will help him to have each word to spell appear alone on a card or page. Sometimes children above the third grade bring home a list of spelling words which they have copied from the board at school, and may have written these words illegibly, even have spelled some of them wrong while copying them. Print or write the words for the child so as to make sure he won't learn to spell them wrong.

Hints On Etiquette

It is incorrect to speak of a "social affair." One speaks of business or state "affairs," but an "affair" suggests something more than friendship between two persons of the opposite sex. You attend a dinner, or reception, or go to a party, but not to a "social affair."

It is reported that Russia may send a team of contestants to the next Olympic games in 1952. Already, it is said, considerable interest is being worked up over a possible new event, the running high jump—from windows.—New York World-Telegram.

Former Circus Roustabout Dies For Murder Committed Eight Years Ago

BELLEfonte, Pa., Oct. 11.—(INS)—A 30-year-old former circus roustabout died in Pennsylvania's electric chair early today for the murder of a Philadelphia garage owner eight years ago.

The state took the life of Ellis Ramage at Rockview penitentiary shortly after midnight.

Deputy Warden C. C. Rhoads said Ramage went to his death calmly.

Rhoads said Ramage remained in good spirits to the end, retaining his composure as he was led to the chair, strapped in and electrocuted.

Repeats Prayers
Only the prison's Catholic chaplain visited Ramage during his last day of life.

As he walked slowly to the death chamber, Ramage repeated prayers after Father John P. Haeala in a clear voice.

Ramage was convicted last December of slaying Charles Blase in a garage robbery in 1940. A companion, Thomas McGory, was convicted with Ramage but escaped with life imprisonment after pleading guilty.

Ramage pleaded that he could not recollect what happened because he was intoxicated the night of the robbery.

His body was shipped to Philadelphia for burial.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By Ernest G. Osborne

WHY NOT TRY THIS

Creative Listening . . .

Here's a simple little trick or exercise that is interesting and has some value, especially for the tense child. Parent and child together decide that each will do nothing but listen for a period of two minutes and then talk over what they have heard.

It's amazing what things in everyday life we fail to hear. The whistle of a distant train, faint rustling of leaves in the tree just outside the window, the knock of a hammer as a neighbor does a repair job are among the more usual overlooked sounds. After some practice, children and grown-ups, too, may become quite skilled in identifying sounds.

Such a little game may very well lead to new interests. One discovers a tiny tree frog on the trunk of the maple in the front yard and learns that there are many different kinds of these small pipers. Children become aware of pleasant and unpleasant qualities in people's voices and try to make certain that their own sound is pleasant. And for the tense or nervous child, the listening game brings a bit of quiet that is helpful.

Adults will be surprised to discover how interesting this game can be.

Lawrence County Farm, Home News

By Extension Representative Lewis C. Dayton, Agriculture, and Miss Emmeline Nehlsman, Home Economics

DISKED FIREBREAK CURBS BRUSH FIRE

Fire prevention on the farm emphasized particularly during Fire Prevention Week, applies to the proper management of brush fires. Disking a strip around a brush heap or fence row to be burned out, forms a firebreak which will help keep the fire from getting out of bounds.

Brush burning, often a part of the fall clean-up on the farm, can be done with greatest safety while there is dew on the ground, or just after a light shower of rain, or following a light skill of snow.

All such fires must be handled carefully to guard against personal hazards, and to safeguard buildings and the farm woodlot.

Hence, do not start such a fire unless it is watched. The interval during which they may be abandoned momentarily can be the time the flames spread, and with disastrous consequences.

Another good practice to follow for farm fire safety is to inform the local fire warden of plans for such disposal of brush or other debris. This will spare him the bother of making a check, and will enlist his aid in performing the task properly and safely, perhaps with the use of some of his tools or equipment.

PROTECT WILDLIFE, DON'T DESTROY IT

The best wildlife management on farms often consists of engaging in operations in such a way as to encourage and protect wildlife rather than destroy it.

No special expense need be involved in such management. Most favorable conditions provide food and cover. A variety of fruits, seeds, nuts and berries available during all seasons of the year meet individual requirements.

Grown-up fence rows, brushy gullies, ungrazed woodlots, swales and swamps along with standing corn and fallow fields provide feed or cover not available when farms have only stubble fields. With cover, such as evergreens and thickets protect wildlife through periods of severe stormy weather, even blizzards and provide escape cover.

Narrow strips of standing corn or hay or other crops, or grown-up fence rows, permit safe passage between roosting and feeding areas, or between separate cover areas.

Anglers And Hunters Spend More Annually Than All Other Sports

(The following article was written exclusively for International News Service by Ross L. Lottier, president of the Pennsylvania Game Commission, who has been with the commission since 1937, and has been president for 12 years.)

By ROSS L. LOTTIER
President of the Pennsylvania Game Commission
(written exclusively for I. N. S.)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 11.—There is more money spent annually by hunters and anglers in the United States than all other sports combined—and that includes the popular baseball, football, basketball and golf.

Anglers spend the most, more than one billion, 300 million dollars each year.

Hunters follow with about 160 million dollars.

These figures include expenses to and from hunting and fishing grounds, equipment and room and board.

Cost Is Heavy
The angler spends from $6 to $3,000 yearly for his favorite sport, and the hunter from $10 up into the hundreds of dollars.

It is a rarity for hunters to spend less than $50 a year, and they average about $150.

Frank G. Menke, in his book, "The Encyclopedia of Sports," states that anglers and hunters spend more money each year than would be needed to buy all the race tracks and race horses in America, all the football stadiums and baseball parks, all professional ball players, hockey rinks, dog tracks, tennis and polo fields, and basketball, tennis, and equipment, auto speedways—and there would still be plenty left to "build a handsome potbelly."

300,000 Hunters
In Pennsylvania, we have about 300,000 hunters, and almost 600,000 fishermen. The state also has approximately 300,000 resident hunters who live on farms and do not purchase hunter's licenses. If they hunt on their own or neighbor's farms.

Late figures show Pennsylvania has 607,000 acres of game land, purchased since 1920. There are also thousands of miles of streams, creeks and lakes, good for fishing. Pennsylvania is exceeded by only six states in fishing license sales.

with Michigan heading the list. California anglers, however, paid more annually, due to a high license fee.

In the 1947 hunting season, nimbros killed over 95,000 deer, and almost two million rabbits. The latter figure is based on field officers' reports, while nimbros are required to turn in individual big game kills.

Deer Herd Develops
This state's deer herd has developed into more than a million animals in the past 30 years, while the deer themselves have degenerated into specimens bearing small racks. From the original 30 counties, the white-tailed deer have advanced throughout the 67 counties in Pennsylvania, even to the urban areas of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

There have been 15 antlerless deer seasons during the past 25 years. However, the commission is still unable to control the growth of the herd. The commission's food and cover development is also retarded despite the removal of lumber stands, to provide browse, and seeding of food plots in the state forests.

See Deer Season
This is because the increased deer population consumes almost all the seedlings planted before they have a chance to develop.

In all probability, the PGC will establish a deer season in 1949, to reduce the deer herd to correspond with the available food supply.

Pennsylvania's deer kill has averaged 45,000 for the last five years. The high year was 95,000 and the low 30,000. Michigan leads in the present deer kill, and Pennsylvania is about fourth.

Last season also showed a rather large black bear kill, exceeded only by four other large kills: in 1924 when there were 220 killed; 1930, 707, 1933, 596, and 1943, 596.

In 1947, the records stand at 500 black bears killed—500 happy hunters.

REPEAL HAS SUCCEEDED
Increasing Juvenile Delinquency

Felonies among boys under eighteen doubled with the outbreak of the war. Persons under 21 years of age account for 13 per cent of all murderers; 65 per cent of all the car thieves. Director of Federal Bureau of Prisons says: "the relief which we expected from the repeal of prohibition has not materialized."

Escaping Pets Keep Police On Hop On Recent Day In California City; All Quiet Now

LOS ANGELES, (INS).—Every dog has his day, the saying goes. Several other members of the animal kingdom also had their day in the news in Los Angeles.

"Oscar," a monkey of distinction, belonging to navy veteran Rollan Morgan, got tired of being locked up in a cage. Oscar crashed out. The stir-crazy Simian, climbed telegraph poles, trees and rooftops before attacking 2-year-old Susan Scoettler and disappearing for good.

Cat With A Yen For Height
"Elsie," an alley cat, deserted two kittens and scrambled up a 40-foot telephone pole. After spending six days on her lofty perch, "Elsie" was brought down by the combined efforts of police, fire department, the SPCA, and the Edison company.

"Ferdinand" is a goat belonging to Vivian Miller, 13. "Ferdinand" no relation to a bull of the same name. However, residents of suburban Venice complained to authorities when flower beds were denuded. "Ferdinand" was marauded off to the animal police until Vivian could raise a $5 fine.

Sheepdog and the Stork
"Lura," a sheltland sheepdog, made news when the stork showed up just as "Lura" was scheduled to depart on an airliner for Houston, Texas. The airline's time schedule was delayed 30 minutes with arrival of three puppies, which made Lura's plane ticket for one of no use to her. Lura took off later.

The stork was not so kind to "Rags," an alley cat. "Rags" ushered in five kittens, each attached to another in Siamese twin fashion. The kittens were taken to an SPCA for disposal.

San Gabriel presented a case of the strange animal friends. "Tidley," a young parakeet spends almost every moment of the day riding piggy-back on "Teddy," a 5-year-old Chihuahua dog.

Hoffman To Fly Back To Paris With Secretary Marshall
WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—(INS)—The Economic Cooperation Administration announced today that ECA Director Hoffman will fly to Paris this afternoon with Secretary of State Marshall.

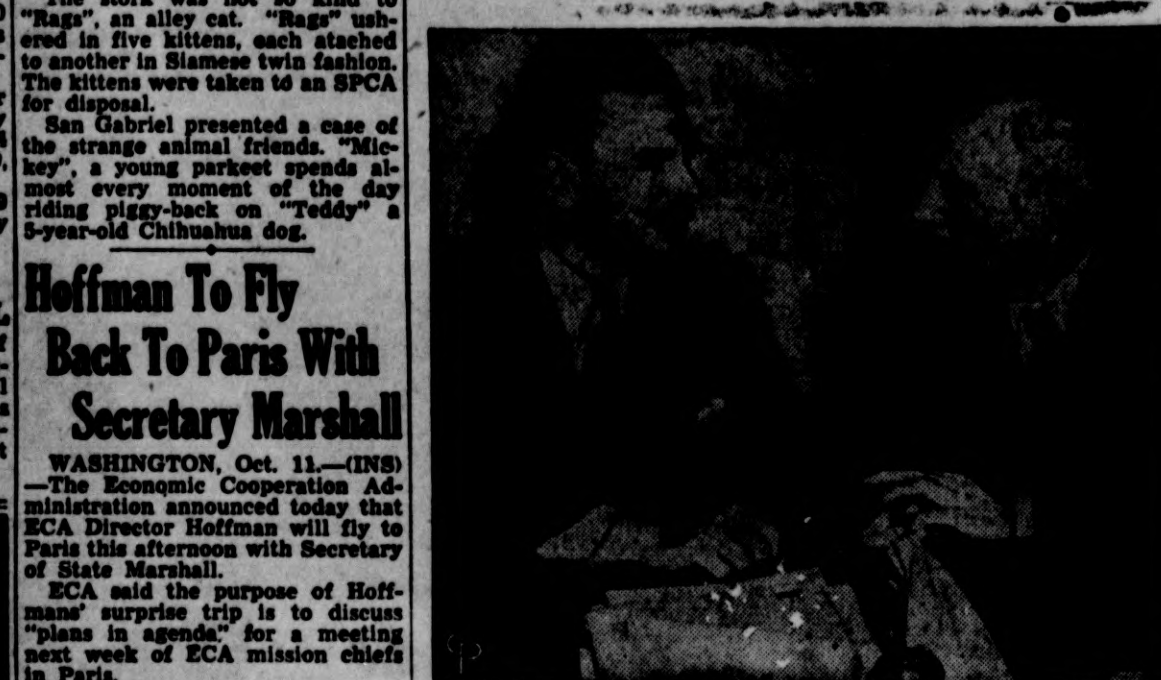

ECA said the purpose of Hoffman's surprise trip is to discuss "plans in agenda" for a meeting next week of ECA mission chiefs in Paris.

ITALY DECORATES DOUG FAIRBANKS

DECORATED with the Italian Cross of Gallantry, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., is congratulated in Rome by Italian Defense Minister Rinaldo Ossola. The award is for services during the Salerno landing. As a naval commander Fairbanks co-ordinated naval operations of Italian resistance forces during bitter beachhead fighting. In middle, nearly hidden, is U. S. Ambassador James Dunn. (International)

Over Thousand Dollars Received From Tag Day For Work At Hospital

That New Castle residents have not forgotten there was a war, and that a lot of fine young men are still suffering from its effects, was evident from the splendid returns from the tag day conducted here Saturday, under the auspices of the Dimes for Deshon committee, which is headed by Mayor John F. Haven, and includes representatives of the various auxiliaries of the Veterans organizations. The unofficial return was $1,012.90. It was revealed by Mayor Haven this morning.

This was around $100 more than was contributed last year. Additional magazine subscriptions will be purchased with the money, along with playing cards and other little luxuries which the hospital does not provide. Mayor Haven extended his thanks for the women and girls who helped conduct the solicitation, and to the public for their generous response.

First Europeans to arrive in India were Portuguese explorers early in the 16th century.

All Offices Closed This Afternoon Because Of Dewey Meeting

OTHER EVENTS IN COURT HOUSE

In order to give the employees of the court house offices a chance to see Governor Thomas E. Dewey, the offices are closed this afternoon.

The commissioners felt this was a proper thing to do inasmuch as only upon rare occasions does a presidential candidate speak here. This will be the third presidential candidate in over a quarter of a century to appear here.

"Invitations are being mailed for my daughter's wedding on Saturday evening at 7 o'clock. It will be a church wedding with the reception immediately following in the church parlor. She will wear white satin, with a train and a long veil. Her attendants will consist of a maid-of-honor and one bridesmaid. I shall wear a long gown.

(1) What is the proper attire for the groom and his attendants? (2) When does the bride throw her bouquet? (3) Who pays for corsages for the bride's mother and the groom's mother? (4) Will a large wedding cake, say 30 pounds, be all that is needed for guests numbering 100, and will the cake with punch, candy and nuts be sufficient so far as refreshments are concerned? (5) I do not care to wear a hat but since the wedding will take place in church will this be necessary?"

Answer: The groom and his attendants should wear formal evening clothes.

(2) The bride throws her bouquet as she goes upstairs to change into traveling clothes.

(3) The groom pays for the corsages for the bride's mother and his own mother.

(4) The wedding cake and other refreshments you mention should be quite adequate.

(5) If your church does not require that you wear a hat, it will not be necessary for you to do so since you will be in evening dress.

Question: A man friend of mine will soon visit my city. I have written and asked him to stay at my home while he is here. As I am single and live with my mother, should she also write to him?

Answer: Yes, unless you included her invitation in your letter by saying: "Mother will be delighted to have you stay with us, etc." If you did this, a separate invitation will not be necessary.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly send personal replies to questions from readers enclosing stamped, addressed envelopes.

W. S. C. S. PROGRAM
An interesting program was presented in the Methodist church by the members of the W. S. C. S. in the church auditorium.

Mrs. Plummer Anderson, leader, opened the meeting with a scripture reading, a brief talk on "When Jesus saw the Multitude," prayer, a poem "Can Anyone Doubt?"

Mrs. Ray McBride gave an address "Lifting Christ Up to Others" and a poem "The Master Is Coming." A solo "God Understands And Cares" was rendered by Miss Doris Tebay, accompanied on the piano by Miss Dorothy Jean Anderson.

The highlight of the evening was an address by Miss Marion Derby, a missionary from Montevideo, Uruguay, S. A., who discussed the customs and religion of the people of Montevideo.

At the conclusion of the program a delicious buffet lunch was served in the church dining room. Covers were arranged for 55. The tables were appropriately decorated in a Halloween motif and centered with a bouquet of fall flowers. Halloween favors were placed at each plate. The social committee, Mrs. George Veon, Mrs. William Sanders and Mrs. Harry Huffman were in charge of the refreshments.

In behalf of the W. S. C. S., Mrs. McBride presented Miss Derby with a lovely gift. Miss Derby will return to her field in South America in December.

Council Objects To County Plan

Plot In Seventh Ward Is Bought By City As Recreation Center

COUNTY REPORTS BID RECEIVED

When members of council met Monday in the municipal building they voiced objections to the reported plan of the Lawrence County commissioners to offer for sale about seven acres of ground on which the city has spent more than $1,000, to develop as an athletic field, instead of selling the plot to the city for about $7,000, taxes due.

The plot is bounded by LaFayette and Rabbit streets, the Shenango river and the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad.

According to council, the Lawrence County Co-Operative association has bid $2,000 for the plot.

Council reports the taxes due on the plot follows: County, $24.32; institution, $22.01; school, $4,505.14; treasurer's sale, $23.00; city, $1,654.57; and city liens, $152.32.

The city and school board, it was reported, favor taking over the land for taxes, and paying off the county. They want the plot continued as a recreation field which has been developed by Parks Director Joseph D. Alexander, it is said.

They point out that were the county to accept the bids of $2,000, the county would make an uneconomical move, as it would receive less as its share than it would from the taxes which would be paid.

Pay For Land
Streets Director James Gibson submitted a resolution, which was adopted, asking for bids for the construction of a sidewalk, six feet wide, at the intersection of Grant and Sampson streets, which the city destroyed when a radius curve was installed after the intersection was widened.

Council also voted payment of $2,500 to the Kline company for land taken in the First ward for a central storage building, which the city proposes to build. Council also voted to pay the GNCA $500, which the association put up as a deposit on the land, which is located at Bridge and Shenango streets.

Council also voted to pay the GNCA $500, which the association put up as a deposit on the land, which is located at Bridge and Shenango streets.

Supreme Court

Refuses Review

Of Durant Case

(SPECIAL)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—(INS)—The supreme court today refused to review the conviction of Kathleen B. Nash Durant, who was sentenced to five years in federal prison for her part in the theft of the Hesse crown jewels in Germany.

Mrs. Durant, a former Wee captain, brought the case to the high court with the claim that she was beyond army jurisdiction when she was taken into custody on June 3, 1946.

She was tried by a court marshal and found guilty in August, 1946, of taking part in the million and one-half dollar jewel theft.

One of the requirements for village postal delivery is that it shall have a population of 1,500.

U. S. Border Guard

In Korea Wounded

SEOUL, Oct. 11.—(INS)—A U. S. Army border guardman has been wounded by Russian-trained North Korean constabularymen in the latest of a series of increasing raids into American-occupied South Korea.

The newest such incident occurred last Friday morning 15 miles west of Kaesong and was announced today by officials in Seoul.

U. S. Occupation Army headquarters said the American soldier was shot by four constabularymen from Soviet-held North Korea.

The announcement stated the soldier was "slightly wounded in the right arm and chest while performing his normal duties" as a guard along the 38th parallel, which separates the Russian from the American Occupation zone.

The wounded man's name was withheld, pending notification of next to him.

FACES TREASON TRIAL
ROME, Oct. 11.—(INS)—Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, former Fascist viceroy of Ethiopia and one of the leading military figures of the Mussolini regime, went on trial for high treason today.

Graziani is charged with collaboration with Nazi Germany.

Public feeling in Rome is running high for and against the noted prisoner. Police cordoned off all approaches to the special court of Assizes where the trial is being held.

The proceedings are expected to last a month.

Lyric poetry comes from the word lyre, and was given by the Greeks to a kind of non-narrative poetry chanted or sung to the accompaniment of the lyre.

Revive Glidden

Auto Tour Of 1908

HARRISBURG, Oct. 11.—(INS)—A caravan of 100 antique automobiles chugged through Harrisburg today on the 1948 revival of the famous Glidden tour.

A parade and ceremony started the flivvers on a trek to Bedford Springs. The caravan left Devan yesterday to retrace the auto tour of 1908.

The drivers, wearing goggles and dusters, were backed up in today's trip with two tow trucks ready to lend a hand in the shaky journey.

On the return trip, the caravan will appear at the Reading Bicentennial celebration.

The first schooners built in America were very small—50 tons or less.

Marshall Denies He Will Resign

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—(INS)—Secretary of State Marshall today denied published reports that he might resign as a result of foreign policy conflict between himself and President Truman.

Marshall was emphatic about denying the reports as he stepped aboard President Truman's plane, the Independence, to return to Paris for the United Nations General Assembly.

The secretary indicated his concern about these reports, denying them on his own volition. He told reporters at the Washington National Airport:

"That is not the way I do business!"

Actually, Marshall said, he and the chief executive in their two conferences Saturday only devoted enough time to prepare a statement asking to stay the imposition of disunity. He declared that they also talked about procedures still to be followed in Paris.

Temple Israel Services Planned

Kol Nidre Services To Be Held During Yom Kippur Day Of Atonement Tuesday

The day of atonement, Yom Kippur, begins at sundown Tuesday, Oct. 12, and concludes at sundown Wednesday, Oct. 13. The Hebrew date reckoned from the birth of Adam, the first man, is the tenth of Tishrei 5708.

Kol Nidre services at Temple Israel synagogue will be conducted Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, with Dr. Iwan J. Gruen in charge. His sermon topic is: "Being True to Ourselves."

On Wednesday morning services will be at 10 o'clock, and Dr. Gruen will then speak on "Return Us to Me, for I Will Redeem Them."

Children's services will be conducted at 1:15 o'clock. At four p. m. there will be memorial services, or Yizkor.

This holy day is observed by members of the Jewish faith in their temples and synagogues. It is the most solemn and sacred day of the calendar and concludes the 10 days of penitence and prayer, ushered in by the New Year. On this holiest of days Jews are instructed to fast and pray for the forgiveness of their sins and the redemption of their souls. It is a day of deep inwardness and spirituality. If the worshiper is sincere in his resolution to flee from sin and mend his actions, and if he has first made restitution to anyone he has wronged, then through God's justice and mercy he may again become "one" with the Eternal.

In this year of cold war and contention the Day of Atonement brings a message of hope and redemption to humanity. It promises if only man will put the evil from his mind and heart, he may live in peace and prosperity. It demands honesty, justice and good faith for all mankind. It holds out to man life or death, the blessing or the curse—it exhorts him to choose life that he may live.

This beautiful holy day concludes with a blast of the ram's horn, or shofar, symbolizing the religious call to return to sincerity and truth to the principles of faith in God and the common brotherhood of man.

Spain Ignores Dali Famous Surrealist

Conspiracy Of Silence Prevents Painter From Becoming Well Known In Spain

MADRID.—(INS)—Salvador Dali, Spanish surrealist painter well known in the United States, charges that a "conspiracy of silence" has prevented him from becoming more widely known in Spain.

Now in Catalonia, where he is spending the summer with his aged parents, Dali said that he was "shocked and surprised" to learn that very few people in Spain knew about him or his work.

Whether or not Dali is famous throughout Spain, he is a hero to his townfolk at Cadaques. When he arrived at his birthplace on the Catalan coast, the entire population of the village turned out to meet him.

Street Celebrations Held Street celebrations were held in his honor and many other festivities had been planned for him.

Dali's mother has been feeding her famous son some of the typical Catalan dishes the painter likes so well. He is reported to have remarked that "there is no such thing as an American cuisine."

According to Dali, movie producer Jack Warner is coming to Spain to produce a film on Spanish castles, and Walt Disney, with whom Dali is cooperating in the filming of Washington Irving's "Tales of the Alhambra," is also expected to visit here.

Bell Pioneers Honor Alexander

Fred M. Alexander, chief clerk in the District Plant Manager's office was recently honored by being named president of the Fort Pitt Chapter, No. 15, Bell Telephone Pioneers.

The Fort Pitt Chapter includes all of the Western Pennsylvania area, so the honor is a distinctive one.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander recently returned from California, where Mr. Alexander attended the national convention of Telephone Pioneers, and did a little sightseeing along the way out and back.

Day Of Atonement To Be Observed

Yom Kippur, known as the Day of Atonement, the last of the "Ten Days of Penitence," the great and solemn day, the day of judgement or "Yom Hadin," is observed on the tenth of the month of Tishre, from sundown this year on Tuesday, October 12 and Wednesday the 13.

It is a spirit of mutual emotions, awe, and profound reverence prevails. The solemn fast day commences with the traditional chanting of the Kol Nidre service, ushering in the holiday of repentance, atonement and a strict fast observance.

The institution of Atonement Day is mentioned in the Book of Leviticus. "And it shall be a statute forever unto you, in the seventh month, on the tenth day of the month, ye shall afflict your souls, and shall do no manner of work, the homeborn, or the stranger, that sojourneth with you, for on this day shall atonement be made for you." Leviticus 16:29.

The Kol Nidre service will be chanted Tuesday evening, October 12 at 8:30 p. m. at the Tifereth Israel synagogue. Rabbi Jules Lipschutz will officiate and preach in the evening upon the subject "Vows We Cannot Annul," and Wednesday morning upon the subject, "Atonement in the 30th Century."

Rev. Baruch Karp will chant the liturgies assisted by Rev. Harry Sobel.

A special youth service arranged by Rabbi Jules Lipschutz will be conducted Wednesday morning, October 13, at 9:15 in the vestry of the synagogue. Larry Haines will preach the sermon and Donald Kalish will chant the liturgies. Members of Young Judea and Asa will participate with these youth services.

The 1947 payroll for bus, street-car and subway employees was approximately $780 million.

LOCAL SAILOR ON COMMENDED SHIP

NEWPORT

Mrs. Fred Veon entertained a group of youngsters, Thursday, October 7, in honor of her son, Dick's sixth birthday. Games were enjoyed by the group during the hours of 2 to 4. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess assisted by the Misses Marilyn and Beverly Veon and Mrs. Robert Shantz, of Ellwood City. Dick received many lovely gifts.

Carol Jean is the name Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brommer have chosen for their daughter born October 1 at their home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cory visited their sister-in-law, Mrs. P. A. Cory, a patient in the Jameson Memorial hospital, Wednesday evening.

Chuck Bebout, of New Brighton, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Crouch and family, of New Castle, visited Mr. and Mrs. Joe Crouch recently.

Mrs. Louise Baker and Timmy, of New Brighton, are spending the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kirschler and Mr. and Mrs. John Allen, Sr.

CONSTRUCTION SPEED

SAN FRANCISCO—(INS)—Speed is of the essence in construction of additional traffic facilities across San Francisco Bay. The American Public Works Association reports that work must be started on other crossings before bonds of the present San Francisco-Oakland bridge are retired in 1953. Otherwise, toll money from that bridge will not be available to help pay for a new structure.

Toonerville Folks

By FONTAINE FOX

Around Hollywood

By EUTH BRIGHAM
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 11.—Robert Ryan, who has never voted as the student most likely to succeed back in his Dartmouth days, is the one actor picked by the Motion Picture Exhibitors of America as sure-fire box office today.

The men who should know chose eight actresses and one actor as star material this year.

When I asked the tall (six-foot-three) actor how it felt to be so honored, he replied:

"All I hope is that it won't start another war."

Marines First
Ryan explained that he had been chosen similarly back in 1941. But instead of going on to stardom he went into the Marine Corps.

Robert Ryan is a lot further in his career now than he was back in those lean days, and it looks like he's in this time to stay.

Maybe it's because he's a good actor. And maybe it's because today's woman is showing a decided preference for the he-man type.

Ryan has made 17 movies (two unreleased), but he's best-remembered for his unsympathetic role in "Crossfire."

"That's irony," he says. "I had been in 13 movies before 'Crossfire', some calling for more lines, more action and more sympathetic characters. I had been the hero, and the hero's best friend. But I come along and open my mouth and say, 'Hawh' wickedly, and it clicks."

Play Heavies
It all goes to show, he added, that the way to recognition on the screen is by playing heavies.

The Dartmouth man is set for what looks like another good role, that of a broken down prizefighter in "The Setup." Script troubles have delayed production on the RKO picture, which will probably get underway this year.

He's good looking, Robert Ryan is, but he doesn't rely on that. In "The Setup" he'll sport cauliflower ears and a broken nose. And it'll follow him right on through the last count. No plastic surgery finale.

The actor has seen rough days. But he says it was "All fun, even then, when Jess and I were sleeping in basements. But that was before we had two kids."

The Ryans (they've been married 10 years) laugh about the time when they were living in New York on practically no money—he at the Men's "Y" and she at the Women's "Y," because that was the cheapest way they could live.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 11.—Movie stars are not the only public characters endowed with whacky idiosyncracies.

Maurice Maeterlick always sported a hair-net to keep his long locks in precise place.

Fedor Chaliapin concluded undesirable conversations by stalking abruptly from the room without explanation.

Such deviations from the norm are the garnish of newsprint. They are the fine intimate flavor of an interview. And in Hollywood it has become impossible to become a big wheel unless you let your fans share your life by knowing all about your idiosyncracies.

Henry Carries Lunch
Like Henry Fonda, who lugs a lunchpail to work and prefers to eat in a corner of the soundstage with technicians instead of dining with other stars.

Greta Garbo likes maple syrup on her breakfast oatmeal.

Boris Karloff, the screen boogie man, raises delicate orchids as a hobby.

Ballet-Hoofers Vera Ellen will wear only heart-shaped jewelry. She owns hundreds of items.

Went Carry Money
Jeanne Crain won't carry money around. Small household billsirk her, so she has a habit of sticking them into the nearest library book or magazine. Her husband goes over the library shelves each month picking up these little reminders from merchants.

Richard Widmark who fascinated and frightened moviegoers in his first cinema role, "Kiss of Death," will not eat alone.

Betty Grable won't be surprised about food. She knows precisely what she is going to stow away for dinner each night because she orders it herself by phone even when she's making a picture.

Hates Hoarders
Gregory Peck, who hates paper hoarders, reads all his personal letters over three times to fix important data in his memory and then tears them up.

Celeste Holm won't wait for a conveyance of any sort—takes the first thing to hand. Once when playing "Oklahoma" on Broadway she stood waiting for a bus which didn't come. There was no taxi in sight but a huge truck was drawn up at the red light waiting a go signal. Celeste thumbed a ride down Fifth avenue.

No Ghost-Writers
If you see Clifton Webb's by-line on an article you can bet he wrote it himself. He won't allow anybody to "ghost" for him.

Army Opportunities For Women Outlined

Sgt. Helen Marcus of the local U. S. Army and Air Force recruiting station today outlined opportunities available for women who choose to enlist in the Women's Army Corps and the sister organization in the Air Force.

Women between the ages of 18 and 23 who meet the standards of character, intelligence and physical well-being are eligible for enlistment. Women in the WAC and WAF are entitled to the same privileges as men in the Army and Air Force, with the exception of certain dependency benefits. Promotions follow the same pattern as that of male soldiers and the pay income is average or above that of many women in civil life.

Further information on the WAC and WAF is available in room 202 in the Post Office Bldg.

EAST BROOK

FAREWELL RECEPTION

Members and friends of the East Brook Methodist church congregation gathered in the church Saturday evening, October 2, for a reception honoring the past minister, Rev. James Williamson, and the newly appointed minister, Rev. Owen W. Shields, Rev. and Mrs. Williamson are leaving for a new congregation at Cooperstown, Pa.

A miscellaneous musical program was presented with Mrs. James Fink in charge. W. R. Clement acted as master of ceremonies. A cordial welcome was extended to Rev. Owen Shields by Howard Fox. James Fink presented Rev. Williamson with a plaque from the congregation in appreciation of his services during the past five years. Both Rev. Williamson and Rev. Shields responded with a few well-chosen remarks. An informal social period followed and a tastylunch was served by the ladies of the church.

MARY JANE MISSIONARY SOCIETY

Ladies of the Mary Jane Missionary society met in the new home of Mr. and Mrs. David McKnight, Tuesday, October 4.

After an inspection of the new home the devotional program was conducted by Mrs. Aubrey Walton, with topics being ably discussed by Miss Bette Snodgrass, Mrs. Glenn Patterson and Mrs. Leon Reicher.

Plans were made to work on the quilt at the home of Mrs. Glenn Patterson. Thursday. Announcement of the thank-offering service speaker, Miss Eleanor Tweed, was made. The services will be at 11 o'clock in the church, November 14. Miss Tweed is a social worker in Philadelphia.

At the close of the evening tasty refreshments were served by Mrs. McKnight, assisted by her daughter, Sue.

EAST BROOK NOTES

Pamela Lamphere Observes Birthday

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—(INS)—Pamela Frances Lamphere celebrates her third birthday at Cook County hospital today.

Pamela's mother, Irene, 21, promised her daughter a birthday cake, complete with candles. She said her daughter would have a real celebration when she returned from the hospital and that today's festivities were only the forerunner of the real thing.

Little Pamela has rare bladder deformity. She attracted national attention when her parents separated after disagreeing on her treatment and is recovering from the first of a series of operations. Her parents reconciled after a 'medical jury' recommended three operations to cure the malformation. The girl was born with her bladder inverted outside her body.

Albina Society Has Anniversary

Memory Of Departed Members
Also Observed At Special Event Sunday

Forty-two years of organized existence were observed and the memory of departed members honored Sunday afternoon, October 10, by the Albina Roumanian Beneficial and Cultural society.

A church service opened the day, a memorial service in the cemetery followed and a dinner and program in the dining hall of the society completed the day's program.

Rev. Nicholas Moldovan The church service in the morning was in charge of Rev. Nicholas Moldovan, pastor of the Church of the Holy Cross in Farrell. He also officiated at the graveside service, assisted by Rev. Alexander Cucu, pastor of the Church of the Advent of the Holy Ghost in Detroit, Mich.

President John Suciu opened the speaking program following the dinner. He welcomed the guests and then introduced past president John Russo as toastmaster. Both of the ministers spoke as did a number of the guests.

Of the band of members that started the society in 1906, only four are living. They are John A. Suciu, John Serb, Peter Pacurar and John Ginga. All four were present at the dinner.

About 150 men and women were present at the dinner which had been prepared by the women of the society.

THE OLD HOME TOWN

Charge Russia Wants To Settle Only On Own Terms

LONDON, Oct. 11.—(INS)—The British government issued a "white paper" today charging that Russia had no desire to settle the Berlin problem except on her own terms. The publication reviewed the failure of Berlin negotiations before the western powers referred the matter to the U. N. Security Council.

It said:

"It is clear the Soviets had no intention of reaching an agreement save on their own terms."

Dr. W. J. Hinkson Is Given Honor

Dr. William J. Hinkson has been named a Fellow in the American College of Surgeons. He has been announced. Dr. Hinkson will be invested with his award in the Los Angeles meeting to be held later in the year.

Crito was a wealthy friend and disciple of Socrates. He arranged for Socrates' escape from prison, but the latter refused to take advantage of it. Plato's dialogue representing the last conversation between Socrates and Crito bears the latter's name.

Huge Demonstration In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 11.—(INS)—An estimated 200,000 persons, mainly Catholics, staged an amazing demonstration of spiritual vigor in Philadelphia last night.

The huge crowd, including 65,000 Catholic men who paraded through mid-city streets, participated in an extraordinary outdoor religious service.

Philadelphia police said it was the greatest mass assemblage in the city's history.

The men who paraded were members of the Holy Name society in 245 parishes in the archdiocese of Philadelphia.

The parade ended on the Benjamin Franklin Parkway where a specially-constructed altar had been erected for the outdoor services.

The tremendous crowds fanned out for five blocks from the altar. Most Rev. Hugh L. Lamb, auxiliary bishop of Philadelphia, told the huge gathering that Catholic men should mobilize as "lay apostles" to save the nation's peace and to guarantee freedom from communism and secularism.

E. Lackawannock

John Ryhal, of Sharpsville, R. D., was a visitor at the home of Clyde Bowen Monday.

Mrs. Chris Hostetter, who was ill a few days last week, is better and up and around as usual.

Mrs. Bowman, of Mercer, was a visitor at the home of Mrs. Glenn Edeburn Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooper Evans were Wednesday evening callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Osborne.

Mrs. S. W. and Mrs. Russell Ligo, of Coalspring, were dinner guests at the home of Mrs. J. A. Dodds and family Thursday.

Mrs. F. A. Hoagland returned home Wednesday after spending several days visiting at the home of her niece, Mrs. Earl Blake and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bell and children, of Unity, were Sunday afternoon visitors at the home of his sister, Mrs. Paul Osborne and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Suber, of Cochran, spent Thursday at the Osborne home where they helped them get ready to move to their new home near Bethel.

J. C. Rust and Mr. and Mrs. William Rust and family were after church dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Johnson and Mrs. F. A. Goagland.

Don Hammond, of Monmouth, N. J., spent the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Humphrey and with his wife and son who are staying with her parents until he finishes his course.

Mrs. Christie, who has spent several weeks at the home of Mrs. J. A. Dodds, has gone to spend some time at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Francis Roudybush, at Saxenburg to help care for the latter's husband, who is critically ill.

Paul Johnson had a call from the men that broke out of Mercer jail recently. The men got into his garage and ransacked his new car looking for the keys. Failing to find them they left, taking the mirror from the car, a flashlight and a billfold containing the owner's card and a few other items.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

slowly and carefully. Nearly always the poor speller is in great haste. He may not even spell the word correctly as he carelessly looks at it. He may try himself out before he has learned it, repeating its spelling inaccurately. Do all you can to keep him from ever spelling a word wrong.

Have him look at the word and pronounce it, then name its letter in correct order; pronounce the word again and name its letters in proper sequence, still carefully looking at the word; and do likewise several more times before trying to spell the word from memory. It may help him to write the word while looking back and forth at it before trying to spell it. But it would be hazardous for him ever to write it wrong.

Few At A Time

Guide him to study each word over and over till he can spell it right, before going to another word. Better for him to attack three or four words an evening and really learn them than to work at a long list of them and get some wrong. It is always better to master a few than to mess over many. When your older child is doing written home work and asks you to spell a word for him, gladly spell it, even if you must yell the spelling from a distant room. If necessary look it up in the dictionary. Don't tell him to do so else he may merely guess at it. Anyway, your readiness to help him can provide good encouragement and comradeship and render him more eager to be careful about his spelling. (My "Home Helps for Poor Spellers" may be had in a stamped envelope; also similar helps on reading and arithmetic by writing me at 235 East 45th street, New York, N. Y.)

Bids On City Hall Opened

Councilmen Receive Bids For Completion Of New City Building

Council met today in city hall and opened bids for the completion of work on the new city building at Grant and North Jefferson streets. After they were read by City Clerk Jack Fritz, they were referred by Property Director Joe Alexander to Eckles & Thayer, associated architects, for checking and report back to council. The bids covered both labor and material.

Bids were taken on the general contract, heating contract, electric contract and plumbing contract. Bids submitted by the William Clark company for plumbing and heating, were not accepted because they were presented several minutes after 10 a. m. which was the time set for the receipt of bids.

After the bids had been rejected unanimously on motion of Safety Director Richard I. Davis, the city clerk was instructed to return all deposit checks excepting those of the two low bidders.

The bids follow:

General Contract
Matthew Leivo and Sons $158,300.
Montgomery Construction Co. $109,000.

Electric Contract
Marvin Electric Company $19,700.
Bruce Merritts Electric, $18,984.

Plumbing Contract
Manufacturer's Distributing Co. $16,500.
Bessemer Construction Co. $16,622.
Harry Daugherty, Youngstown, $18,900.
Frank P. Andrews and son $19,287.

Heating Contract
Bessemer Construction Co., Erie $22,624.
Harry Daugherty, Youngstown $19,640.
Frank P. Andrews and son $19,997.
Ralph J. Midgley, Pittsburgh, $21,510.

HONESTY PAYOFF
McPHERSON, Kan.—Dick Hess went on vacation with his parents to Fort Ontario, Canada. He lost his billfold but got it back the day after he returned home. The billfold, with a money order for the cash that it had contained, had been mailed to Hess by the finder in Canada.

David B. Shaw Dies Today At Greenville

David B. Shaw, Hadley, Pa., died this morning at 2:05 o'clock in the Greenville hospital. Death followed an illness of three years due to complications. He was born July 14, 1877, in Stoneboro.

Mr. Shaw was the father of Richard C. Shaw, Mrs. Mary Pitzer and Mrs. Bessie Thomas, all of New Castle. He is also survived by his wife, Mrs. Jessie Reash Shaw, and six grandchildren.

A daughter, Mrs. Helen Coates, New Castle, preceded him in death. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Attend Meeting Of Publishers At Harrisburg

Robert E. Mallick, of the News-Dispatch, Shamokin, Pa., was elected president of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association at the closing session of the annual convention Saturday. The convention was held in Harrisburg, Friday and Saturday.

With Mr. Mallick, E. H. Vosburg of the Burgettstown Enterprise was named vice president. The new officers will assume their posts in January 1949.

J. F. Rentz, president of The News, and Richard E. Rentz, assistant treasurer of The News, attended the Friday and Saturday session in Harrisburg. The convention concluded with a dinner Saturday night at which Governor James H. Duff spoke.

On Sunday, J. F. and Richard E. Rentz went to State College, Pa., where Richard E. Rentz was made an honorary member of Sigma Delta Chi, a national journalistic fraternity. Joseph Snyder, Philadelphia bureau manager of the Associated Press was also inducted as an honorary member of the fraternity.

Munhall Officers Face Questioning

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 11.—(INS)—County Detective Chief Charles S. Johnson ordered two Munhall policemen, Chief Benjamin Roberts and Patrolman James Crouch, to report to the district attorney's office today for questioning.

County detectives found the names of the two officers on books that were seized after they arrested Mrs. Olga Sutich, 35, on a lottery charge in her Munhall home.

According to Johnson, the entries indicated that Mrs. Sutich paid Patrolman Crouch $100 every month and Chief Roberts $35. The two patrolmen denied that they either knew Mrs. Sutich or received any money from her.

Mrs. Sutich said the entries were for raffle and football tickets which she had sold for the two policemen.

U. S. Troops In Bavaria Will Not Pull Out

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—(INS)—Murray D. Van Wagoner, U. S. military governor of Bavaria, declared today that army troops will not pull out of that small German state until the Berlin impasse is settled.

Wagoner, former governor of Michigan, said, however, that Germans in the area now are ready for self government. He predicted that denazification and decartization proceedings will end in six months.

The Army official also said: 1. Incidents as serious as those occurred in Berlin happen "every day" with Russians along the Bavarian border.

2. The Marshall plan has greatly helped Bavaria as well as most of western Europe.

3. Bavarian exports are steadily increasing and crops prospects this year are "fine".

Wagoner arrived back in the U. S. last week end and plans to address a state meeting of the Knights of Columbus at Detroit tomorrow. Today, he reported to Army Secretary Royall and Under-Secretary Draper.

Wagoner plans to return to Europe Sunday.

The ex-governor declined to discuss the overall problem of U. S.-Russian relations but left no doubt that he feels the situation is in a serious state.

Greensburg Plans Sesqui Fete In '49

HARRISBURG.—With the appointment of a general chairman, formal plans for Greensburg's sesquicentennial in 1949 are being formulated, says the state Department of Commerce Vacation and Recreation Bureau.

A year-long celebration is planned. Located in the heart of the bituminous coal region and in an area of historical importance, Greensburg has much to offer recreational travelers and vacationists, especially the history-minded.

General Arthur St. Clair, one time president of the Continental Congress, governor of the Northwest Territory, operator of an early tavern in the now Westmoreland county area is buried there.

A few miles north is Hannantown, scene of the famous Hannantown Declaration of Independence written by Scotch-Irish pioneers. Not far away is Bushy Run Battlefield where General Bouquet in August, 1763, conquered the Indian hordes in a too-little known but most important and major historic conflict.

Survey Pollution Of Juniata River
HARRISBURG.—Upon direction of the Sanitary Water Board in promotion of the clean streams drive, a survey will be started this month of the Juniata river to determine the extent of pollution in that stream and the polluting volume contributed by each industry and municipality located along the waterway, Dr. Norris W. Vaux, health secretary and board chairman, has announced.

The work will be done by the Industrial Wastes Division of the Health Department Bureau of Engineering, which is executing the clean streams program.

Nineteen points have been selected along the stream between headwaters near Altoona and Newport where samples of water will be taken for analysis in the health department laboratories. To establish the condition of the river will be made during the warm weather season, and during the periods of high and low river flows.

A similar survey of the Schuylkill river is now under way, excepting that it is confined to the degree of pollution of the river.

The surveys on both waterways are under the direction of F. B. Milligan, head of the Industrial Wastes Division.

PETER GRITTE SR. BIRTHDAY HONORED

Saturday evening, October 9, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gritte Jr., of Hart street, R. D. 2, was the scene of a gala celebration honoring the former's father, Peter Gritte Sr., on his eighty-second birthday.

Approximately 40 members of his family gathered to help him celebrate, including the following sons and daughters: Peter Gritte Jr., Mrs. Calvin Bailey, Mrs. Ann Elliott, John H. Gritte, Mrs. Martin Chilli, Henry Gritte, Thomas Gritte and the following grandchildren: Gerald Bailey, James Chilli, Haven Leroy, and Peter Gritte III. Barbara, Pauline, Gladys, Josephine and Kay Elaine Gritte.

Cards and group singing were enjoyed throughout the evening. While the brightly lighted cake graced the center of the serving table, Mr. Gritte received several lovely gifts. "Happy Birthday" was sung by the younger grandchildren and a lovely lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Thomas Landell, Mrs. Sam Mangerville, Mrs. Marcellus Conti, Mrs. Henry Gritte and Mrs. Gerald Bailey.

MARGE HORNBY FETED AT DESSERT BRIDGE
Miss Marjorie Logan, of 422 Edgewood avenue, was hostess to a gathering of friends in her home Saturday afternoon, to honor Miss Marge Hornby, bride-elect of this month, with a personal shower in the form of a dessert bridge.

The group enjoyed a delicious luncheon, served at a table prettily appointed in a bridal motif with a center piece of fall flowers. The hostess was assisted in serving by her mother, Mrs. Ralph L. Logan and Miss Jeanne Cullford. An afternoon of bridge followed the luncheon. Prizes were won by Miss Betty Finch and Miss Mary Moore. The hostess was then showered with an array of lovely personal gifts.

Miss Marge, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William W. Hornby, of 225 Fairfield avenue, will become the bride of Dean E. Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold T. Nelson, of Warren, Pa., Friday morning, October 18, in Trinity Episcopal church, in the presence of the immediate families.

ST. MARY'S LADIES PARTY ON TUESDAY
Ladies of St. Mary's church will hold a white elephant social party on Tuesday evening, October 12, in the basement at 8 o'clock.

Afterwards, the committee in charge will serve dainty refreshments.

Married People's Class
Members of the Married People's class of the Second U.P. church hold their monthly meeting Friday, October 9, in the church basement.

A delicious chicken dinner was enjoyed by 35 members, after which a short business meeting was held, electing the following officers: Mrs. Robert Huston, president; Mrs. J. Upstead, vice president; Mrs. El Burgen, secretary and Roy Wacker, treasurer. Devotionals followed and closed the meeting.

The next meeting will be in the church parlors Friday evening, November 12.

Section C to Meet
Section C of the Y. L. B. class of the Third U.P. church will meet Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. H. A. Henderson, East New Castle.

CLASS GUESTS AT EVENING SOCIAL

George R. Borden class of the First Methodist church was entertained at a delightful fall party by Rev. and Mrs. James A. Gaiser and their family in the church parsonage, 405 Clemenso boulevard, Saturday evening. Bouquets of fall flowers decorated the living room and dining room.

Rev. Gaiser gave a very interesting talk on his experiences in Amsterdam, Holland, this past summer when attending sessions of the World Council of Churches. He showed pictures he had taken in Amsterdam, including some of Queen Juliana.

An open forum discussion based on his talk proved of much interest to the group during the latter part of the evening.

In serving refreshments the hostess' aides were Mrs. Oscar Sheaffer and Mrs. B. F. Steinbrink.

Essay Winners Receive Prizes

HUNTINGTON, W. Va.—(INS)—Four of five top railroad positions traditionally held by men on the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway were assumed for one day by young women, winners of the C. & O. essay contest.

Robert R. Young, chairman of the C. & O. and president of the C. & O. club, announced that $5,000 will be distributed to 115 prize-winning contestants as follows: To the first five winners: Nancy Coulson, Tempe, Ariz., $1,000; Margaret Pierce, Oneida, N. Y., $750; Geraldine Ashour, Kansas City, Mo., $500; Rachel Mehr, New York City, $250; Martin Shabel, Brooklyn, N. Y., $100. To the remaining 110 winners: 20 prizes of $50 each, 25 prizes of $25 each, 35 prizes of $15 each and 40 prizes of $10 each.

The five top winners were invited to Huntington, site of the C. & O.'s vast locomotive shops, for celebrations. A high ranking officer of the C. & O. presented the awards and certificates, naming the winners honorary railroad officers for a day.

Four Are Killed In Pittsburgh Over Week End

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 11.—(INS)—Four week end traffic deaths were reported today in the Pittsburgh area.

Mrs. Florence Braun, 50, a nurse, was killed Sunday night when she was struck by a car as she crossed a street. The driver of the car, Mrs. Rachel M. Wilson, 43, of Greensburg, was charged with drunken driving and leaving the scene of an accident.

Ignatius Yeager, 60, of Baldwin township, was killed by a truck which hit him Saturday night. The truck driver, John Chisnar, 42, was charged with drunken and hit-and-run driving.

John Cron, 66, of Moon Run died Sunday of injuries suffered Friday when he was struck by an automobile.

Robert Moford, 32, died Saturday of injuries received in a fall from a moving motorcycle.

County Firemen To Meet Wednesday

Shenango Department Will Be Hosts At Monthly Business And Social Meeting

Lawrence county firemen will have their monthly meeting in the Shenango township fire hall Wednesday evening, with a tureen dinner preceding the business meeting at 8:30 o'clock, and a social period following.

Nomination of officers for the coming year will take place at this time.

STUBBLE TROUBLE
BEARDSTOWN, Ill.—(INS)—Charles Hager burned a stubble field close to a pear tree on his farm. Now the tree is blooming for the second time this season. Hager mused: "I guess the tree thought it was summer again."

Confirmation At SS. Philip-James'

One Hundred To Receive Sacrament Of Confirmation At 7:30 Tonight

Confirmation exercises at the SS. Philip and James church will take place this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the church with the Most Rev. J. F. Dearden, D.D., bishop coadjutor of the Pittsburgh diocese in charge. Local clergy will also visit.

There will be 100 to be confirmed and each has an individual sponsor.

Rev. Fr. Edward Boley of Springdale, Pa., will deliver the sermon.

The musical program is under the direction of Miss Marie A. Dutkiewicz. The processional, Ecce Sacerdos Magnus will be sung by Rev. W. Kosin of Youngstown, O., a vocal creation by the boys' choir, Confirma Hoc Deus, by Rev. W. Kosin.

The Children's choir will sing O God of Loveliness, O Salutaris Hostia and Tantum Ergo.

Congregational songs will include: Holy God We Praise Thy Name, Serdeczna Matko and Niechaj Bedzie. The processional will close the impressive services.

Prior to the ceremony, the bishop coadjutor will be honored at a dinner in the parish house, SS. Philip and James, at 6 o'clock.

Police Searching For Auto Driver

City police searched yesterday and today for Eddie Warden, Shadyside avenue, who is wanted by Youngstown police for allegedly driving a car which struck and damaged several cars owned by Paul Emch of Youngstown. The accident occurred Saturday night. Lieutenant Jones and Cruiser Operator Sigler saw Warden get out of a car at Green and Grant streets. He fled before he could be apprehended.

"Red Feather" Party at Y.W.C.A. Over Week End

Y-Teens of New Castle and county senior and junior high school clubs met over the week-end for a "Red Feather Party" at the YWCA.

Community service is one important phase of Y-Teen club activity; counting "red feather" stickers was a service they gave to the Community Chest of this city as a feature previewing National Y-Teen Roll Call Week, October 11-17, contemporary with the Community Chest drive.

Madonna Sodality Conducts Meeting

Rev. Fr. Francis Kucynski, Spiritual Director, Speaks To Large Group Sodalists

Madonna Sodalists recently held their monthly meeting in the church auditorium with prefect Betty Glasser presiding. The treasurer's report by Sophie Zombek followed the roll call by Mary Dudek.

An interesting talk was made by Eleanor Glasser on the various predictions made by Christ to the holy people. Rev. Fr. Francis Kucynski, spiritual director, and Sister Frideline, moderator, commented on the report after.

Rev. Fr. Kucynski was presented with a gift in honor of his Saint's day. All sodalists were asked to recite the rosary during "The Rosary Month." Betty Glasser closed the meeting with prayer.

New Castle Lions club will have its regular meeting in The Castle Tuesday noon when the speaker will be a representative of the Lawrence County Cancer society. He will discuss cancer and the need for early treatment of this disease.

R. F. Conway, Secretary.

BROWN IN SPRING

CARLELE, Pa., Oct. 11.—(INS)—Funeral services will be held tomorrow for 14-month-old Joseph G. Larocca who drowned in a spring near the Carlisle barracks grounds.

He was the son of Lt. and Mrs. Eugene W. Larocca who said he slipped from their sight while they visited with another army family at the post. Rescuers tried for four hours to resuscitate the child.

FALL PROVES FATAL

SELINGROVE, Pa., Oct. 11.—(INS)—Snyder County Coroner Rubin Sheaffer reported today that Raymond Martin, 43, of Selingrove, was killed instantly when he fell 50 feet from a scaffold while working near Shamokin dam.

Pomona Has Annual 'Go To Church' Night

Rev. James A. Gaiser Speaks To Large Delegation Of County Grangers Sunday Evening

Annual Pomona Grange "Go To Church Night" was observed Sunday evening in the First Methodist church, with Rev. James A. Gaiser, pastor of the host church delivering the sermon to the assembled grangers. The Scripture was taken from the Galatians and read by Pomona Chaplain, Rev. A. D. Anderson.

The speaker chose as his sermon theme, "The Responsibility of the Sower" in which he admonished his listeners to help their fellowmen, bear one another's burdens and be forgiving. He pointed out that the responsibility of the sower was to make the farm a family affair; dissolve conflict which exists between agriculture and society and to look toward Christ for help. During the evening a quartet sang two selections. The church was quite well filled for the inspirational service. The last meeting of the group on "Go To Church Night" was held at the First Presbyterian church.

SEEK GUN WIELDER

HARRISBURG, Oct. 11.—(INS)—Police today looked for new clues to the shooting of a 22-year-old Negro man found on a doorstep in Harrisburg with a bullet wound of the abdomen.

The victim, Thomas Scott, is in a critical condition in the Harrisburg hospital.

'Stolen' Car Safe In Hotel Garage

ST. LOUIS—(INS)—A man walked into St. Louis police headquarters recently, claimed an automobile which had been stolen from him, and thereby cleared up the mystery of an unsolved car theft that had been on police books since 1944.

Winfrey Morgan of Thayer, Mo., told police that a car he had reported stolen four years ago was not stolen at all. He explained that on March 28, 1944, he had driven his car into a St. Louis hotel garage. He handed the keys to an attendant, received a claim check, but when he returned later was told the garage had no record of his car.

Morgan said he received a notice from the hotel in November 1944 that his car had been in dead storage for nine months.

Along with the notice was a storage bill for $120. Morgan said both the notice and the bill were turned over to his insurance company which had reimbursed him for the "stolen" car.

Derna, in Northern Africa, was, in 1905, captured by a force of natives and Americans, led by General Eaton. A fort was begun by the Americans, and it is still standing uncompleted. It is the only place on the African continent ever occupied by Americans, until World War II.

Tax Survey Report Is Presented To New Castle Council

Tax Experts Make Report

Institute Of Local Government, Of State College Completes Survey

WAGE TAX PLAN CAUSE OF SURVEY

After a survey of several weeks, the tax experts who have studied the New Castle situation have made a report.

The report, which is published herewith, is made in four chapters, or parts. First is the "Pennsylvania Municipalities and Act 481." Second is New Castle's needs for 1949. Third, "Finances of the City of New Castle compared with other cities." Fourth, "Possible sources of additional revenue."

State College Men. The survey and report are made by men of the Institute of Local Government, Pennsylvania State College, and is a fairly comprehensive one.

When the proposed ten mill wage tax was announced some months ago, it was suggested to city council that a survey be made on New Castle for the purpose of determining what the needs were, what the possibilities for new taxes were, and what a ten mill wage tax would mean.

These are the things dealt with in the report. Several tables of figures which are relevant but not so much as the report itself are omitted from this article due to their size. Aside from the tables, the report is published below, exactly as it was made to the New Castle city council.

Chapter I Pennsylvania Municipalities and Act 481

The 1947 General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania passed the new famous Act 481 which gave cities, boroughs, school districts, and first class townships the power to tax anything not taxed by the State itself.

This act is one of the most significant pieces of local government legislation of the past generation.

First, it is obvious that the power of government, like those of other activities, have been skyrocketing in this period of inflation. Increases in the cost of living made it imperative that salaries and wages of local government employees be raised. Prices of equipment, materials, and supplies have kept pace. No one can deny that our local governments need more money if they are to carry on the activities required of them by law and by the needs of their citizens.

Valuation Not Increased. Second, the assessed valuation of real estate, especially in the medium and larger-sized cities, has not been increased enough to provide sufficient additional revenue. In fact, the assessed valuations have not kept pace with the rising market value of real property, since the machinery for assessing real estate does not move with the rapidity necessary to adjust to the financial needs of the community. In addition, many cities have actually found their assessed valuations decreasing because of the migration from the central city to areas outside municipal boundaries. This migration, due to the increased congestion at the central core, and made possible by the automobile, is causing revolutionary changes in the economy of communities and is having a very real effect upon city finances.

It has been generally agreed that even before the present inflationary period, real estate was bearing as much of the load of local government as possible. The many tax delinquent properties during the depression indicated that a saturation point was reached almost simultaneously with the advent of economic decline. In Pennsylvania, up to the time when Act 481 began to be used, real estate was carrying 70 per cent of local government costs throughout the State. In many cities and boroughs this figure rose as high as 80 per cent because the municipalities had few other sources of revenue available. School districts and second class townships had long since received aid in the form of state grants but municipal governments, until recently, depended almost solely upon real estate. Act 481, therefore, was passed to relieve real estate of some of its present load or, at the worst, to keep increases in the cost of government from resulting in increases in real estate millage. In other words, the legislature recognized the need for a broader tax base for local governments.

Step State Aid. The third consideration of the legislature and the Governor was that it was time for local governments to stop coming to the State for greater State appropriations. Not only does this practice undermine the stability of State finances, but it is gradually creating a dependence upon the State along with an increase in local control by the State. This is contrary to the principles of the American governmental system and the leadership in Harrisburg believed that the trend should be halted.

There was yet another reason for this Act, and this was the belief that elected local government officers are capable and responsible to use these new powers. The essence of the American system of local government is that the people elect representatives to councils that carry out their wishes. Local public opinion is translated into official action more quickly and accurately than it is in the State or national governments. Our greatest political leaders, from the time of the early colonies, agreed that it was desirable to keep government as close as possible to the people.

Another factor incident to the passage of this Act was the fact that the economic and financial resources of the communities vary widely. Because of this variance it was decided there should be no attempt to have statewide uniformity in the application of new taxing powers. Some communities do not need new sources of revenue.

While others are growing fast and have constantly increasing demands for new services and facilities. A statewide and state-collected tax for the use of local governments, distributed on the basis of population, would be neither fair nor equitable and would not answer the individual needs of each community.

One of the most complicating factors in local government finance is the increasingly large number of persons who earn their livelihood within city limits, but who live outside. These persons use the services and facilities of the city without a comparable contribution to its maintenance. Some form of adjustment ultimately has to be made in such cases and it will either have to come from increased state aid or from some form of taxation causing non-residence to bear their just share of the tax burden.

Act 481 therefore puts the issue squarely into the hands of the communities themselves. It allows them to make the decisions as to what sources of revenue should be used. It makes possible an over-all pattern of taxation tailored to meet the individual needs of each community.

How Used

How have Pennsylvania municipalities used these new powers of taxation? The year 1948 is not yet over and a final picture cannot be drawn. However, there are certain trends that are in evidence according to a survey recently completed by the Bureau of Municipal Affairs of the Department of Internal Affairs of the Commonwealth. As of September 1st, more than three hundred local governments had levied one or more taxes under Act 481. This includes thirty cities of the third class. These cities have levied amusement taxes, taxes on mechanical devices, mercantile taxes, income taxes, and a number of miscellaneous taxes, each according to its special needs. The most common taxes have been those on amusements and mechanical devices. The yields from them are relatively minor in amount, as compared with the total budget. A number of cities have adopted the earned income tax, including Harrisburg, Sharon, Scranton, Philadelphia, Jeannette and Monaca. Others are seriously considering such levy, usually at the rate of one per cent.

The city of New Castle has adopted an ordinance to levy a tax on earned income. It is the object of these articles to evaluate the effect of the city government of New Castle in relation to the problems of the community, and to bring before the people an analysis of the effects of this tax on the community at large.

CHAPTER TWO NEW CASTLE NEEDS—1949

It should be emphasized that city councils generally do not spend more money than can be raised under ordinary circumstances. They know that new taxes are never popular and therefore are inclined to accomplish as much as possible with present revenues. But there are times when additional money must be raised or the municipal government fails to carry out its responsibilities to the people. Such a time—for New Castle, as well as for hundreds of other Pennsylvania communities—is now.

A survey, department by department, of New Castle's city government shows without question no doubt that additional revenues are needed for 1949.

Wage Salary Increase

First, the salaries and wages of the 280 full time employees, exclusive of the elected officers, were raised as of September 1, 1948. The hourly employees received an increase of ten cents per hour and the salaried personnel were given an increase of $30.80 per month. The rising costs of living and the competition from industrial employment make this move necessary, proper and just.

While the increase for the three months of this year will be absorbed without creating a deficit, this was accomplished only by rigid economy in other quarters and curtailing several needed public improvements. The increase will add $40,000 per year to the payroll expenditures.

This raise will extend throughout 1949. In order to pay for this salary and wage increase in 1949, it is estimated that an additional $40,000 is required over the total salary outlay of 1948. This brings the total to be spent on salaries and wages to $870,000. This includes only present personnel and does not take into consideration the addition of any new employees.

Salaries and wages account for 69 per cent of the 1948 budget—$690,000 of $981,000. This leaves only 29 per cent for capital improvements, materials and supplies. The increased needs of each department for 1949 should be examined separately.

Public Affairs

The Department of Public Affairs includes the functions of police protection, weights and measures, plumbing inspection, sewage disposal, civil service commission, the bureau of electricity, the city clerk, and the city solicitor.

It is estimated that departmental expenditures will be about $75,000 higher in 1949—$327,000 as compared with $332,000 in 1948. This includes the general increase for employees, the addition of six officers to the police force, and two additional employees at the sewage disposal plant. The police force is undermanned and the establishment of a traffic division to handle the increasingly perplexing traffic problem in New Castle is contemplated. Two additional employees at the sewage disposal plant are needed because of recent extensions to the plant.

The purchase of traffic signs and signals required by the State Department of Highways will add about $40,000 to the Department of Public Affairs budget. The state has required the substitution of corner traffic signals for the center signal lights now in use plus other improvements to the sign and signal system which the city is financially unable to meet. The improvement of the traffic signal system can be delayed no longer.

Accounts and Finance. The Department of Accounts and Finance includes for budgetary purposes the water, sewer, gas, and the city treasurer, who operates independently, and the functions of tax assessment, license tax collection, and the general financial bookkeeping for the city government. The $10,000 of additional expenditures in this department will be confined to the general salary raises for the personnel. However, council plans to place the earned income tax collection bureau in this department and this will necessitate extra personnel and equipment, the cost of which cannot yet be estimated.

Department of Streets. The Department of Streets and Public Improvements includes in its activities the construction, maintenance and cleaning of streets, bridges and sanitary sewers, as well as the operation of the municipal garage. It is also charged with the administration of planning and zoning under a special board.

The war and the resultant inflation necessitated the curtailment of virtually all public works construction in New Castle. Like other cities, it has a backlog of projects that must be undertaken if the community is to have a modern transportation system on which so much of its life depends. The department has developed a program of public works improvements that must begin in 1949. One of the projects is the resurfacing of bituminous pavements on broken stone bases constructed a decade ago as part of the Federal Works Administration project. This will cost an estimated $119,000. The program also includes the resurfacing of the following city streets: North Beaver, Crawford, Avenue, Millers, Division street, Hamilton street, Pine street, Leasure street, Hazeltree avenue and State street at a total cost of $32,000. Another project calls for repaving for Reynolds street extension, Industrial street, Oak Park road and Traffic Route U. S. 422 (see eastbound oncoming traffic) at a figure estimated at $61,000. Curb repair and extension at the rate of $10,000 a year, for a period of ten years, is contemplated. Storm sewers, costing a total of $37,000, are planned for the following areas: Boyles hollow water course enclosure, Sampson street water course enclosure, Park and Ray streets water course enclosure, Croton M. E. church water course enclosure, Snakes Rest water course enclosure, Sumner and Audley avenue water course enclosure, Cascade street water course, Scott street sewer, and Dewey street sewer. These must be built in the Eight Ward at a cost of $100,000. While this program totals almost a half million dollars of expenditures, it is believed that only about one-tenth, or $50,000, can be specifically projected for 1949. All of these projects are urgently necessary to modernize the transportation arteries and drainage system of the city.

New equipment needed to do the job of the department includes a street flusher and an automobile for the engineering division for 1949, and to be purchased later, a grader, a street sweeper, a machine and a truck for equipment. Personnel, plus an additional six men for a four month period, can be counted on to carry on for 1949. A total expenditure of close to $200,000 will be asked for the 1949 budget, an increase of $50,000 from 1948.

The city of New Castle is finding this ordinance, regulations and maps which are based on the first zoning in 1928 must be revised and the city re-zoned. It is estimated that this will cost $10,000. This move is considered most necessary because of the changes in business, industrial and residential requirements in the last twenty years.

Public Safety. The Department of Public Safety has the functions of fire protection, health administration, garbage, ash and rubbish collection and disposal, and street lighting. Certain major items of capital outlay are included in the 1949 budget if the needs of the community are to be met. These include: a new aerial ladder truck costing $30,000 to replace the 1917 model now in use, a new B truck carrying emergency fire equipment costing $22,000 to replace the 1928 model now in use, a fire alarm system, a fire being used for this purpose, and the addition of three holes to present six hole incinerator system (at present part of the garbage is dumped or hog fed). The items amount to a total of $105,000.

The following additional personnel is also needed: seven firemen, two health employees and two garbage collection employees. New Castle has a completely paid fire department. At present firemen are on duty 72 hours a week and are paid for a 48 hour week. It is recommended that firemen be given a 60 hour a week duty, which will necessitate the force being increased from 46 to 53. Additional health employees are needed to clean up certain neglected areas of the city and to cut weeds on city property. An additional truck, plus a driver and two men are necessary for more regular pick-up periods for garbage collection.

All this, including the general salary increase and the repairs to fire houses, will amount to a total of $148,000, and bring the total 1949 budget for the Department of Public Safety to $432,000.

Parks and Public Property. The Department of Parks and Public Property is charged with the operation and maintenance of public buildings, the public comfort station, the city parks and playgrounds, the municipal golf course, and the swimming pool, and Cascade Park.

The needed increases in this department total an estimated $34,000. These will cover the general salary and wage raises for 10 full-time and 31 part-time employees, the paving of the midway of Cascade Park, and a truck and furnace for the golf course. In addition, although not recommended for the 1949 budget, there is dire need for a filter for his swimming pool in Cascade Park. A year ago this filter was estimated to cost $50,000 and the State Department of Health has insisted that it should be installed. The estimated 1949 budget requirements are $118,000. This includes $15,000 appropriated to the Board of Recreation which, with an additional $7,500 from the school district, is used to carry on the program of recreation on 15 playgrounds that the city children and adults enjoy.

These are next year's needs for the city of New Castle as estimated by the members of the City Council, each of whom administers one of the five departments. It goes without saying that these needs are conservatively estimated because these same officials must be responsible for raising the necessary money to pay the cost. They can be counted upon to lean backwards in spending money because they are answerable to the taxpayers, daily and at close range.

But if the city of New Castle is to carry out its responsibilities for making the community a good place to work and live, thought and planning must extend beyond 1949 and the citizens must accept progressive projects that will keep the city modern, attractive and efficient for its residents, its businesses and industries. Good government costs money. Taxes paid are an investment in the community.

Cities in Transition. Broadly speaking, all Pennsylvania cities are in transition, are going through a transition. The movement of people, businesses and industries to the outskirts must be taken into consideration in any plans for the future development of the metropolitan area. A modern traffic plan must be evolved to effect quick transportation in and out of the city. Off-street parking must be extended. Zoning must create usage districts that will make possible stabilized property values, efficient operation of business and industry, and a desirable residential environment. Cities need to give their planning commissions trained staffs.

Five police health services must be constantly modernized by regular training of the employees and by the use of serviceable equipment. City offices should have the best in records, personnel and equipment to do an efficient job. For an efficient municipal government is a matter of the utmost importance to a community and its individual members.

As will be shown in another article, New Castle ranks well in comparison to its sister cities. But all cities are faced with large problems that none of them has solved. External vigilance is the price of liberty; community interest and individual support are the price which must be paid for good city administration.

CHAPTER THREE FINANCES OF NEW CASTLE COMPARED WITH SELECTED CITIES

A comparison of New Castle's 1947 receipts and expenditures with those of seven neighboring third-class cities reveals that New Castle assumes a median position in most departments. The seven cities selected for this comparison are Franklin, Oil City, New Kensington, Butler, Sharon, McKeesport and Johnstown with a population of 66,088. New Castle has a population of 47,638 and is the third largest city in the group. McKeesport with a population of 55,355 is most equal in size to New Castle.

With the exception of Oil City, all of these cities secured nearly three-quarters of their 1947 revenue from taxes on real property. New Castle with 73.6 per cent of total revenue contributed by taxes on real property ranks fifth among the cities in the percentage of total revenue produced from real property taxes. New Castle ranks fourth highest in the percentage of total revenue obtained from the earnings of departments. The range in per cent was from 10.4 to 21.9. Departmental earnings in this analysis include business licenses and street permits, receipts from services performed for which a fee is charged, parking meter collections and similar receipts.

Grants and gifts contributed 4.5 per cent of New Castle's total revenues and in the comparison with seven other cities, New Castle ranks second highest in the percentage of total revenue obtained from grants and gifts. The range was from 1.6 to 6 per cent. Grants and gifts include county and state aid for highways and other grants. Special assessments comprised only 0.9 per cent of New Castle's total revenues, yet even this small percentage was the median of the eight cities. Two cities did not have any special assessment, neither in 1947 and one received 0.1 per cent. The range was greater for this receipt item than for any other the highest being 14.8 per cent and the lowest, zero.

Miscellaneous Revenue. Miscellaneous revenue includes all unclassified receipts and provided New Castle with 7.4 per cent of total revenues. New Castle ranks second to McKeesport as receiving the greatest per cent of total revenue from miscellaneous sources. Fines and forfeits, interest and rent and other sources of revenue not otherwise classified are included as miscellaneous revenue.

In comparing the percentages of revenues by sources, for the eight cities the most striking feature is the fact that Oil City was dependent upon taxes for only 64 per cent of its total revenues. Departmental earnings contributed almost 32 per cent and special assessments nearly 15 per cent of Oil City's 1947 revenues. There are few deviations that can be noted in comparing the remainder of the cities.

A comparison of the per capita total revenues of the eight cities shows that New Castle ranks fifth in the amount of revenue collected per capita. New Castle received $19.21 per capita from all sources and ranks in about the median position. Taxes provided New Castle with $14.14 per capita and also placed the city in fifth place in amount of tax revenue per capita. Total revenues per capita range from $10.97 to $24.96 and in tax revenues per capita the range is from $8.13 to $16.45. In the two comparisons only the rank of Oil City changes more than one relative position. Oil City ranks first in total revenues per capita and seventh in tax revenues per capita.

The expenditures of New Castle compared with the selected third class cities show that New Castle ranks about the median position for most items of expenditure. The current operating expenses of New Castle in 1947 were $16.96 per capita and ranked fourth in the per capita amount expended. The range in per capita governmental expenditures is from a high of $13.17 to $19.44. However, five out of the eight cities spent more than $16.00 per capita.

New Castle's Rank. In the various items of expense which comprise current operating expenditures, New Castle ranks in the middle of the cities. For general government the city spent a per capita amount of $2.10; for protection, $6.26; for health, $3.49; for highways, $3.57; for libraries, $1.88; for recreation, $1.12; and miscellaneous, $0.66. Ranked with the other cities New Castle's per capita expenses are 4th, 3rd, 4th, 5th, 1st and 4th, respectively. The lone deviation is in the per capita expenditures for libraries and recreation where New Castle ranks first. On the whole, the group of cities spent very similar amounts per capita for various functions of government.

In addition to the comparison made of current operating expenses, the amounts expended by the eight for debt service, capital outlay for improvements and major equipment and total operating costs have been compared. The total per capita debt service requirements of New Castle in 1947 were $1.59, and the city ranks sixth from the highest in the amount of expenditure for interest and debt retirement. Only Franklin and Oil City spent less per capita than New Castle for debt service. The range in per capita debt service payments was from $1.40 to $2.74. It should be noted that the three lowest cities in the per capita debt service expenditures are closely grouped within a range of $1.40 to $1.59. The fourth lowest city is Sharon with a per capita expenditure of $3.85 and the other cities are $4.00 per capita for debt requirements.

Plant Improvement. Expenditures for improvement to plant and purchases of new equipment are listed in addition to the operating costs. These capital outlay costs range from $6.09 to $7.17. New Castle ranks second in the amount of capital outlay expended on a per capita basis with an amount of $5.74. The fact that several cities rank very low in the amount of capital outlay per capita may indicate that needed replacements to plant and equipment have been postponed to another year.

In comparing the cost of total operations per capita, New Castle ranks fourth with a per capita cost of $34.25. Included in the cost of operations are all expenses of government that represent actual expenditures. Transfers of funds and other transactions of a book-keeping nature are not included. The range in per capita cost of total operations is from $14.53 to $28.97.

Tax Rates—Assessments. Traditionally, local governments have always relied heavily on real property taxation for the greatest proportion of their revenues. New Castle, as previously pointed out, is no exception to this custom, with almost three-quarters of the 1947 city revenues derived from taxes on real property. The general tax rate for 1948 was levied on an assessment of real property and occupations and was at a rate of 15 mills on each dollar of assessed valuation. The tax rate was increased in 1948 from a 13 mill rate which was levied for each of the years, 1944, 1945, 1946 and 1947. During the two years the millage had been reduced with a low point being reached in 1941 when the tax rate was 10.5 mills.

New Castle's 1947 tax rate of 13 mills was one of the lowest of the eight cities compared. The tax rates ranged from 12 to 20 mills. Two cities had a 20 mill rate. All of these exceeded New Castle's rate of 13 mills. Two other cities had the same tax rate as New Castle and only one city, Butler, had a lower rate, one of 12 mills. This reflects the assessed valuation in Butler which exceeded, both on an actual and per capita basis, the assessment of the other cities compared.

The values of both occupation and real property as assessed for the city tax purposes have been increasing slightly for the past several years. However, the 1948 total assessed valuation of the city was 9 per cent below the 1931 figure and 7 below the 1921 figure. In 1948 the occupation tax assessment was $3,497,030 or $73 per capita. In 1947 it was $73 per capita and in 1946, represented an increase from $62 per capita in 1945.

The assessed valuation of real property has not fluctuated as much as the occupation assessment and increased at a faster rate than the occupation assessment. In 1948 the New Castle real property assessment was $46,461,660 or $1,059 per capita. This new assessment of real property on a per capita basis has increased steadily since 1940 when it was $976 with the exception of 1943 when it declined to $886.

The assessment of real property and occupations of New Castle combined was $53,958,000 or $1,112 per capita. In 1947 this combined assessment was $1,103, on a per capita basis. A comparison of New Castle's assessment with eight selected third class cities shows that New Castle, the third largest city, had the third largest total assessment on both an actual and a per capita basis. The assessment of real property and occupations of New Castle was exceeded only by McKeesport and Johnstown. On a per capita basis, however, Butler has the highest valuation, a per capita amount of $1,148. Total assessed valuations on a per capita basis range all the way from $940 in Franklin to $1,148 in Butler. Three have per capita assessed valuations of less than $750 and in three cities a total valuation on a per capita basis exceeds $1,100.

CHAPTER FOUR POSSIBLE SOURCES OF ADDITIONAL REVENUE

The Earned Income Tax. One of the new taxes now being imposed upon the selected tax jurisdictions granting Pennsylvania municipalities the power to tax anything that the state does not tax is the earned income tax. As of August 1, 1948 at total of 64 Pennsylvania municipalities were using the earned income tax. Other cities using it were Philadelphia, Scranton, Johnstown, Sharon, Erie, Jeannette and Monaca.

The earned income tax would apply to persons employed in New Castle and residing in satellite communities as well as to residents of the city. However, it is probable that the city would derive little or no revenue from the non-residents working in the city because the satellite communities will in all probability, impose similar levies. Hence, the income of non-residents has been excluded from these computations.

The rate most often used by Pennsylvania municipalities levying earned income taxes is one per cent. The calculations of the probable yield are based on a one per cent rate.

Population 53,123. New Castle had a population of 47,638 in 1940, and it is known that an increase has occurred since that time. In 1940 there were 13,106 electric power customers, or one for each 3,635 persons. There are now (1948) 14,814 electric customers. Using the same ratio of electric customers to population, the city would now have an estimated population of 53,123.

The average per capita income for Pennsylvanians was $1,372 in 1947, and this figure is used for 1948 in order to be conservative. Using the estimated population and the estimated per capita income, the total annual income of the residents of the city is estimated at $72,884,756 for 1948 ($1,372 x 53,123).

When the items of income not taxable under an earned income tax are excluded it is found that $2,744 per cent of total income remains taxable. Applying this percentage to the estimated 1948 income for the city, ($72,884,756 x 3.74 per cent) it is found that the total taxable income for the city is $2,744,947. If a tax of one per cent is imposed on this amount, the estimated gross yield would be $27,449.47. If it is assumed that 10 per cent of this amount will not be collected, the estimated probable yield of this levy would be $24,704.52 for 1948.

Nineteen of the 41 separate taxes levied by cities under Act 481 are amusement taxes. The amusement tax is usually a percentage of the admission price, ranging from 4 to 10 per cent, with 10 per cent the most common rate. The cities levying an amusement tax are Allentown, Altoona, Beaver Falls, Bradford, Butler, Chester, Clairton, Coatesville, Easton, Harrisburg, Hazleton, Lock Haven, Meadville, New Kensington, Pottsville, Reading, Uniontown and York.

Because all of these levies have been imposed in 1948 there are no data available on the yield from these levies. It is known, however, that the income from this levy will be substantial.

Merchandise Tax. A merchandise tax on both wholesale and retail establishments has been levied by seven cities. The rates vary from one-half mill to three mills wholesale, and one mill to 2.5 mills retail. The seven cities using the merchandise tax are Allentown, Clairton, Harrisburg, McKeesport, Pittsburgh, Uniontown and Williamsport. No information is available on the amount of revenue derived from this levy.

Mechanical Devices. Five cities have levied taxes on pinball machines and similar devices. These levies are usually flat rates per machine. Cities using this levy include Allentown, Coatesville, Harrisburg, Lancaster and Sharon.

Miscellaneous Taxes. The city of Franklin has levied a $5 annual per capita tax. Pittsburgh and Bradford have levied taxes on personal property, the Pittsburgh tax being two mills and the Bradford levy four mills. Altoona has a business privilege tax of two mills based on gross receipts, and a one mill property transfer tax has been levied by Easton.

William Pitt the Younger, who became Prime Minister of England in 1764, at the age of 25, was the youngest man ever to hold that important position.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

OCTOBER in Pennsylvania—crisp, invigorating and riotously colorful—unparalleled for scenic beauty anywhere! It is not surprising that the dyed-in-the-wool outdoorsman should then feel an urge that will not be denied. He is drawn to field and forest as by a magnet. He may work his hunting dog, he may prospect familiar game territory, or he may simply roam, revelling in nature's handiwork upon which mere man has never improved. At this time the trapper readies his equipment for the coming fur catch and the woodcock hunter seeks the "timber doodle" as a warmer-upper to the small game opener, not long distant. Yes, particularly for those who love the out-of-doors, it is certainly great to be alive in Pennsylvania in October.

Allegheny College will open its new quarter-million dollar athletic area Saturday. . . . Sugar Ray Robinson, world's welterweight champion, will defend his title against Steve Belloise in a Tournament of Champions, Inc., bout, in Jersey City, December 2. . . . Joseph Misar, a regular guard for three seasons on Villanova football team, is coaching the Camp Lejeune, N. C., Marine base team. . . . Jimmy Jolly has been mustered out of the Marines. . . . Eighty percent of the players on the U. of South Carolina are war veterans. . . . Mississippi U. played its first night football game October 18, 1929. . . . Numerous good hounds are in the AKC trials of the Shenango Valley club's meet, commencing today.

Champion Ted Horn Hurled To Death

DU QUOIN, Ill., Oct. 11.—(INS)—The auto racing world today mourned the loss of its champion, carefree Ted Horn, who hurled to his death when his racer "threw" a wheel at 100 miles per hour.

Horn, 38-year-old national A.A.A. driving champion and holder of more track records than the next two drivers combined, died in a Du Quoin hospital minutes after he was carried from the track at Du Quoin State Fair Park yesterday.

Spectators Horrified
A horrified crowd of 3,500 spectators saw the front axle on Horn's racer give way after the spindle on his left front wheel had broken on the second lap of the 100-mile feature race. The race car smashed ahead, out of control, and somersaulted several times, throwing Horn from the cockpit and colliding with the car driven by Johnny Mantz, who escaped with a slight cut on the face.

Horn's death was attributed to internal injuries.

Denies DiMaggio Signed As Manager

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—(INS)—Co-Owner Del Webb, of the New York Yankees denied today a published report that Joe DiMaggio had signed a 1949 contract calling for $85,000.

The story was published in a New York morning paper and drew an immediate denial from both Webb and Dan Topping. Webb said that DiMaggio has neither voiced any demands nor signed for next year. He added: "We haven't even had a conference on the subject with Joe."

It has been said that Lou Boudreau is one of baseball's greatest players and one of its worst managers.

Young Grigger Suffers Injury

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 11.—(INS)—The condition of Walter Cleary, 18-year-old Pittsburgh football player who suffered a brain concussion in a game Saturday, was encouraging today.
He was resting well at his home.
Cleary, captain of the Peabody High school team, apparently played most of the game against South Hills with the concussion. Coach Dick Myers said he called plays perfectly.
He finished the game, and collapsed in the dressing room.

Football Ticket Sale Wednesday

Tickets for the New Castle-Farrell grid game will go on sale Wednesday morning at nine o'clock at the North street school basement. It was announced today by Business Manager Earl McKenzie of New Castle High.
The game Friday at the stadium should produce a lot of thrilling action. Both teams are undefeated in five games, with New Castle unscathed on. Farrell has allowed but one touchdown this year, that to Rayen, of Youngstown.
